“2 Possibly Earth-like worlds, Just 16 Light-years Away”

Astronomers have been discovering an increasing number of rocky exoplanets, worlds similar in size to Earth. This month (December 15, 2022), an international team of astronomers said it has found two more worlds in our own neighborhood of the galaxy. These worlds are less than 16 light-years away, very close, relatively speaking! And they're in the habitable zone of their star, the zone within which liquid water can exist.

For comparison, Proxima Centauri b is the closest Earth-mass exoplanet, at 4.2 light-years away. It's also similar in size to Earth and in its star's habitable zone.

“Astronomers Discover A Weird Object In Space That Contains A Galaxy Within a Galaxy Within Another Galaxy (and Nobody Knows Why)”

With a flawlessly symmetrical ring encircling a red sphere of stars, Hoag's object is one of the most stunning mysteries in the universe.

If you look closely at the serpent constellation in the northern sky, you might notice a galaxy within a galaxy within a galaxy.

This cosmic turducken is known as Hoag's object, and it has baffled astronomers since astronomer Arthur Hoag found it in 1950.

The object under consideration is a one-of-a-kind, ring-shaped galaxy 100,000 light-years across (slightly larger than the Milky Way) and 600 million light-years away from Earth.

The Twenty-fourth Saying (Part 9)

“Another Mariner, the third of their number, spoke saying, ‘How is a man or a woman, in trying to evolve spiritually, to know whether it is the spirit that develops or the psyche?’ In reply, The Teacher said, ‘That is one of the problems that confronts every individual who is living and working in the Church. In the Church, we emphasize the living of The Way, do we not? People often ask, “What is so important about living of The Way? If you believe in God, if you lead a good life, if you are kind to your fellow man, in other words, practice the virtues, what else is there to do?” They do not understand that it is the living of The Way that determines the outcome of their involvement of reflecting to the Sun of Righteousness. This living of The Way dictates whether they see the Image and hear the Word, or whether they come under the influence of the Powers of Darkness, which are to be found in the opposite of the Sun of Righteousness.

“‘There is a Dark Sun, as we know. We know that there exist malevolent Powers of the psychic nature from the fourth dimensional world. The Evil One, the Power that influenced and deceived Adam and Eve in the Garden when the two mistook the Dark Angel for the Angel of God, is the same Force that was in the beginning. Living The Way enables us to receive protection from the True God who has revealed unto us that very Way which we are obliged to live.

“‘When we look upon God’s Sun, that Sun that enlightens our Eternal mind and Soul, we come alive; we are nurtured by God’s Light. Before that experience, we are cold and lifeless, doomed to death by our limited sensory world. And this warm Light from the Sun of Righteousness kindles our mind and our spirit; our Soul comes to life, and we actually live. By living The Way, we are able to look beyond the physical sun. We are able to penetrate to another world beyond.

“‘The physical sun contains the Powers of Darkness. It contains the energies and frequencies that control this planet. And oftentimes people, in not living The Way, are nurtured by those entities which cause them to be psychic mischief makers, which cause them to speculate intellectually and generate metaphysical doctrines. Living The Way means to give up the human self, to go beyond human personality, and work for the good of the Church: to follow the Precepts, Concepts, Institutes of the Church, and follow God’s new laws, something which has to be done in stages. One goes through the preliminaries – through the Ethics and the Codes, through the Statutes and Judgements – becomes involved in the Liturgy, and then goes on to a teaching career that involves administration of Sacraments, and the duties of Cleric, Administrator, and Diplomat. And so it goes, forever.

“‘Therefore, in living The Way, one begins by working, laboring, and studying within the Church. And the Church as a living Community affords the protection of metanoia – God’s Divine Presence. We are aided and abetted by the Power of God within the Church. The first prerequisite of The Way is that one live within the structure of the Church. After that, one begins to familiarize oneself with the Constitution and the Canon. The individual experiences his or her ministry – Ordination, Consecration, Concelebration, Consignation, the Bath of Regeneration, and Consolation.’”

Again, if I may be of any personal service to you, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours in Light+,

Gene

Passing the Trials to Awaken the Soul

“Beloved Reader, this is no jesting matter; one who thinks it so, has not tried it, nor has he yet passed the Judgement; but his Conscience is still asleep; and thinks it should be deferred to his latter days, which is very dangerous, yet he must pass through the Judgement or Fiery Trial. Happy is the one that passes through it in the time of their youth, before the Devil builds his fort of Prey strong ; he may afterwards proove a laborer in the vineyards of Heaven, and sow his seed in the Garden of Christ, where he shall reap the fruit in due time. This Judgement continues a long while upon many souls, several years [or more], especially with those who do not earnestly put on the Armor of Christ, but wait till the Judgement of Tribulation first drives them to repent. But to one that comes on their own, for their own earnest purpose, and endeavors to depart from evil ways, the temptation or trial will not be so hard, nor will it continue so long. Yet they must stand out valiently until victory be gotten over the Devil; for they shall be mightily assisted, and all shall end in the best for them.” ~Jacob Boehme

Sleeping Conscience

Boeme says that one who has not yet passed “the Judgement,” has a “sleeping conscience,” but I think it would be more accurate to say we have a sleeping spirit. The conscience is certainly connected to the spirit, but there are many people who seem to have a conscience of sorts, yet are not spiritually Awakened.

Deferred for Latter Days

Sadly, Boehme is correct here. Many people do believe that they can live their earthly life as they wish, and not be concerned with the spirit and Soul until they are old and dying. The danger in doing that is twofold. First, many die before they reach the age where they think they should be preparing for the afterlife. Second, even if they decide to start changing their ways while still alive, but quite old, they are likely to die before making enough progress for it to make any difference. You don’t want to wait until you are on a sinking ship before learning to swim. And you don’t go find a job first, then go to college to get the degree necessary to hold the job. You have to get the education first then get the job when you are fully qualified. It is much the same with spiritual development.

Devil’s Fort of Prey

What Boehme is saying here is that the longer we let ourselves be controlled by the forces and beings of darkness, the harder it is to break away from that and turn to God and Truth. We have all heard the old saying that the truth will set us free, but that is true only when we are able to accept the truth and act on it. If the barriers of darkness have been built very strongly in our subconscious mind, it is more difficult to turn away from that darkness. So Boehme advises us to do so while we are still young, and the “Devil’s Fort” within us is not so strong. While he has a point, the truth is that the majority of us will not seek a spiritual awakening until we get older and start realizing that we are mortal.

Vineyards of Heaven, Garden of Christ

Boems says that those who awaken become laborers in the vineyards of heaven and sow seeds in the Garden of Christ. He is simply saying in an allegorical way that we become workers in Heaven for God’s Great Plan. This is contrary to the image many people have of Heaven, or the afterlife. We say of the departed, “Rest in Peace,” but while peace is certainly an attribute of Heaven, resting is not. Those who reach Heaven must work hard in this world and the next to get to Heaven. And those in Heaven continue to work to help others reach that level of consciousness. So it might be better to send off those who have physically died by saying “Work in Peace”.

“Michael Clarage: Function in the Cosmos | Thunderbolts”

While walking and talking with a friend who was a mechanical engineer, he asked me, what is science? Great question, which eventually led us to talking about what is lacking in today's science. I proposed that when an astronomer looks at a beautiful nebula, the first question should be, what is the function of that?

“Andrew Hall: Cosmic Resonance”

Proponents of the EU Model of Cosmology run into an infinite wall of resistance: false preconceptions by consensus science. The EU does not see the cosmos the same way materialists do. Fundamentally, the cosmos is energy. Energy is kinetic motion, or potential motion of matter over a distance. But matter itself is potential energy—so, it's just all one thing—energy. An Electric Universe is one of energy transformed from kinetic to potential by standing waves of constructive interference. Author and engineer Andrew Hall explains how the shape of matter conforms to the shape of energy flow—and the shape of matter forms circuitry that anchors the shape of energy. It's a feedback loop.
