The Twenty-third Saying (Part 13)

“Following this discourse, a female Companion of The Way addressed The Man thusly, ‘May I ask for a further explanation of the statement that affirms that this world is not the True Creation and the Evil One could not exist without God.’ The Man replied to the disciple, ‘God created the world as Good, where there was no death and His creatures lived on His Presence. In speaking, we need to express these concepts in words and speak in terms of God and Him and His Presence to explain a point. But in the beginning, God was a Presence, and Man and Woman lived off that Presence. Over a period of time, Man and Woman became tempted, as you know from the allegorical story of the Garden of Eden, and they fell away from God and began to live, not off God’s Presence as nourishment, but by the taking of the lives of other things. The allegory does not answer all the questions concerning their evolution to the stage when they, or at least their descendants, began to eat meat, to the act of killing, and living off the Creation and not God, which led to our suffering, disease and death.

“‘Therefore, when God’s True Creation is restored – when He reveals Himself through the Image and the Word – all the existing creation will be burned up by the Presence of His Light. God must reach out to the souls of men and women by revealing His Image and speaking to them in His Word so that they will be restored. Thus, the new Creation is already in the process of becoming.

“‘As ministers, as the pre-ordained, as a Church, we are caught in the phenomena of space and time. God’s World has already been restored, and we are already immortal. As humans existing in space, we naturally think in terms of time – a beginning, a middle and an end – and as a consequence, we live out our lifetimes on the physical level, in the physical world, and we will die as this world will die, but we will be restored eventually. The concept of time is such that it does not explain to us when this will be; because space and time are an illusion, as it were, an unreal state of the present, not of the future; nor was this illusion of the past, except recently.

“‘As we evolve, we will see that, as ministers, we are being trained for a great undertaking. This Church is gearing itself to introduce religion as a revolutionary force in the world beyond politics, beyond economics, and beyond the civil state, to create a religious State in the world. And the world must give us the place to do that. We cannot predict when that will be, but that is our goal.

“‘Unlike other churches, the Church of the Second Advent is not interested in merely existing within the status quo and being governed by the State, responding to the State. We are not interested in allowing our children to enter the military when the time comes, paying taxes, and getting involved in the life of this senseless, aborted, perverted physical world. We are only concerned with the evolvment and evolution of man and woman and society. In essence, we represent that very religion promised by Jesus Christ to come when the world would be changed for Good. We have picked up the cross that was laid down two thousand years ago. We are the Second Church of Christ – the restored Church of the Second Advent in which God’s Image and Word motivate and animate us to do His Will.’”

“Huge Sunspot Pointed Straight at Earth Has Developed a Delta Magnetic Field”

A massive sunspot may be set to erupt, unleashing the most intense form of solar flares that may last for days.

Sunspot AR3089, which is facing Earth, has now acquired a delta-class magnetic field, indicating that it has accumulated enough energy to produce X-class solar flares.

According to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), the sunspot has a 5% chance of producing an X-class outburst. If that happens, the flare might cause a severe geomagnetic storm in the Earth's atmosphere, causing damage to infrastructure and electromagnetic communication systems.

Spiritual Growth and Enlightenment is an Activity

"Sweetly, it is true, the illuminated mystic may live; but not, as some think, placidly. Enlightenment is a symptom of growth; and growth is a living process, which knows no rest. The spirit, indeed, is invaded by a heavenly peace; but it is the peace, not of idleness, but of ordered activity. 'A rest most busy,' in Hilton's words: a progressive appropriation of the Divine. The urgent push of an indwelling spirit, aspiring to its home in the heart of Reality, is felt more and more, as the invasion of the normal consciousness by the transcendental personality—the growth of the New Person—proceeds towards its term.

"Therefore, the great seekers for reality are not as a rule long delayed by the exalted joy of illumination. Intensely aware now of the Absolute Whom they adore, they are aware too that though known He is unachieved. Even while they enjoy the rapture of the Divine Presence—of life in a divine, ideal world—something, they feel makes default. Sol voglio Te, O dolce Amore. Hence for them that which they now enjoy, and which passes the understanding of other men, is not a static condition; often it coexists with the travail of the heart that Tauler has called 'stormy love.' The greater the mystic, the sooner they realize that the Heavenly Manna which has been administered to them, is not yet that with which the Angels are fully fed. Nothing less will do." ~Evelyn Underhill

Enlightenment Requires Constant Growth

Spiritual Awakening and Enlightenment is not an instant affair. It takes time to achieve some level of consciousness that could be truly considered enlightenment. Yet even then, the job is not done. Nothing will suffice for the awakened Soul except complete unity with God and the All. That takes continuous effort to grow.

Heavenly Peace

As Ms. Underhill notes, the Heavenly peace achieved by the mystic or spiritual adept is not a peace of idleness but continuous activity. The mountain climber is happy upon reaching the top of the mountain, but next week will climb another, probably higher, or otherwise more difficult. To achieve real Spiritual Enlightenment, we must be like that mountain climber. We may be happy with what we have achieved, but we want to continue the process until we reach the ultimate: union with God.

Intensely Aware of the Absolute

Those who are truly awakened spiritually are intensely aware of the absolute. They don't theorize about what it is. They don't accept what is written in books as the final word on

God, no matter how holy the book is. They know through a direct connection with the absolute, and therefore this awareness is Knowledge, not simply theory or belief.

Sol voglio Te, O dolce Amore

I cannot find a complete translation for this Latin phrase, but the latter half means “O sweet love”. So what Underhill is saying here, is that when one becomes in full contact with the All, with God, they feel an intense Love for God and an intense love coming from God. Love for all is the most important thing we all must learn. This doesn’t mean we have to accept all the horrors of the material world, as some would have you believe. It means we can love the spirit and soul created by God, while not liking the actions of the body and mind. But as Ms. Underhill reminds us, the spirit and soul are active also. We must engage in spiritual development techniques regularly, preferably, daily. We must act on the spiritual level to fix our fallen world, and that means loving it. O dolce amore.

WEEKLY MESSAGE: November 9, 2022

HEAD OVERSEER'S WEEKLY MESSAGE

The Twenty-third Saying (Part 12)

“And The Mariner, upon hearing these words, said to The Man, ‘Throughout the course of these Sayings, you stress the point of living The Way. Could you clarify a little more what living The Way means? Is it essentially a perpetual surrender or submission?’ The Teacher replied, ‘The force that keeps civilized societies, races, and cultures from disintegrating is law and order. Every civilization in the world is based on that principle. Every church has its canon law and that law is designed or created for governing that church.

“The canon of our Church differs from that of other churches inasmuch as our Church, in serving the True God, wishes to cause to be established a theocracy in which humankind can live under Divine Law – under those laws and ordinances brought forth in our Constitution and Canon Law, in the Prophecies, the Statutes and Judgements, the Institutes, Precepts and Concepts of the Church, the Revelations to come and, of course, the major or fundamental Teaching – the Doctrine and Creed of the Church with its theology.

“We wish to be governed and regulated by the Image and the Word in the Sun of Righteousness and formed into a living body of men and women who can represent a new Nation, a new race of people who have made a New Covenant with God. Therefore, we cannot be ignored by the State which says, “You must submit to civil law. You must live in accordance with the law of the State. The law of the State and civil law are greater than religious law. We have power over you.” This is the great problem that confronts the future generations of this Church.

“As long as our Church consists of a small number of people, it is not essential that we concern ourselves with how other people might live, but with living the Law of God for ourselves. However, as we expand into a larger Church, as we evolve into a race of people that begin to have thoughts of God and begin to think about Godly things, those people are going to want to be free from society in general, free from the laws of the land that are intended to regulate and govern men and women who live only for their material welfare and not for religious and spiritual welfare.

“In the United States there is a separation of Church and State, which means the Church is outside the law to a certain degree. It is not regulated by civil law, but it must adhere to the law of the State. That is logical because there is only one law of the land. One lives under the Constitution of the United States, with the Bill of Rights and with the statutes and laws created by state legislatures and regulated and interpreted by our courts.

“‘A church must fit within that legal structure but, as we grow and develop into a State or a race and a Nation within a nation, the time will come when we are not going to want to be regulated by state law. And there is going to be conflict. We already are confronted with that conflict in Nevada. We were confronted with the conflict in Florida in the early days of our Church, and we had a conflict with the law in Peru. The law of the State has always been against this Church and has always caused us grief and strife.

“‘Of course, we do not want to be privileged, and we are willing to gain our rights within the law like anyone or any group or church. But, the time is going to come when our race, our people, are going to become so strong and so large in number that we are not going to want to live under the laws of the State. This means that as a Nation and a people, we must find sanctuary in some country, some land – America or elsewhere – where we can be separate from state laws and restrictions and regulations of materialistic bodies that could interfere with our exercising our freedom of religion. It may be that when we become strong enough, we can achieve this freedom in this great nation of the United States of America. I do not know.

“‘I know that land is going to be given to us at some time in the future. Whether we are going to be given land by another nation, as we have already mentioned, or whether a nation is going to allow us to come within its borders and let us instruct their people in the Way of Light, I do not know. That is for future generations. But, on the other hand, we cannot be sure. However, the Will of God will triumph over the minds of men and nations and governments, and even over nature and the Powers of Darkness.

“‘Living The Way, quite simply, means living according to the Doctrines and the Creed of the Church as expressed in its Constitution and Canon, and in teaching and administrating in the ministry under the vows of the Church, and, of course, adhering to the Precepts, Concepts, Institutes and general Teachings of the Church. To live The Way is to live in accordance with the Will of God and the Image and the Word that has manifested in the Sun of Righteousness.

“‘Living The Way means that ministers, both male and female, ordained to the service of God, live The Way, as individuals as well as a body of ministers. Then, they are moved by the metanoic power of God to fulfill the Church and God’s Wishes in the world. As a race and as a people, they are destined to inherit the world which is going to be changed by God’s Image and Word. Wickedness and Evil, and even the flesh, will be burned up so that only the spiritual, in whatever form, will survive. That is a basic and most fundamental concept of the Church. We acknowledge that we must grow and evolve in stages, just as individuals do.

“‘People undertake our studies, become active in the Church and eventually become active as ministers. And then together as ministers they become involved in the building of the Church in whatever capacity is required, according to the need and the following of the Church. For example, if the Church had several million enlightened followers at this time, it would change and its needs would change drastically. In time, the Church will change and have greater effect on the world according to the number of its followers. Living The Way applies to the individual, it applies to that individual’s life in Community and it involves The Way of the Church in the future.’”

Again, if I may be of any personal service to you, please do not hesitate to contact me.

“Bottling the Sun”

Bottling the sun

The world has been trying to master this limitless clean energy source since the 1930s. We're now closer than ever

Story by Boštjan Videmšek
Photographs by Matjaž Krivic
May 30, 2022

ITER's fusion energy experiments will take place inside the vacuum vessel of a donut-shaped machine called a tokamak.

The world has been trying to master this limitless clean energy source since the 1930s. We're now closer than ever.

Saint-Paul-lez-Durance, France – From a small hill in the southern French region of Provence, you can see two suns. One has been blazing for four-and-a-half billion years and is setting. The other is being built by thousands of human minds and hands, and is – far more slowly – rising. The last of the real sun's evening rays cast a magical glow over the other – an enormous construction site that could solve the biggest existential crisis in human history.

It is here, in the tiny commune of Saint-Paul-lez-Durance, that 35 countries have come together to try and master nuclear fusion, a process that occurs naturally in the sun – and all stars – but is painfully difficult to replicate on Earth.

Fusion promises a virtually limitless form of energy that, unlike fossil fuels, emits zero greenhouse gases and, unlike the nuclear fission power used today, produces no long-life radioactive waste.

Mastering it could literally save humanity from climate change, a crisis of our own making.

“Dwardu Cardona: Earth’s Primordial Stellar Host”

At our third conference, EU2014: All About Evidence, Dwardu Cardona presented a reconstruction of Earth's cosmic history distilled from the universal mytho-historical record. He describes how the strongest scientific validation comes from space itself, as new instruments display extraordinary electromagnetic detail across the cosmos, confirming that this is indeed an Electric Universe.

Dwardu Edward Cardona (1937–2016) was born, raised, and educated in Malta. In 1959, he emigrated to Canada and soon began to study catastrophism and the Solar System's cosmic history. Dwardu was the Senior Editor for Kronos, Editor of Aeon, co-founded the Canadian Society for Interdisciplinary Studies, and consultant for the UK-based Chronology and Catastrophism Review.

As an author, Dwardu published well over a hundred articles, notably on the Saturn theory. His legacy lives on through his five esteemed books—God Star (2006), Flare Star (2007), Primordial Star (2009), Metamorphic Star (2011), and his final opus, Newborn Star (2016).

Pushing the Spirit to Greater Power

“As a spirit, you are a part of God or the InfiniteForce or Spirit of Good. As such, you are an ever-growing power that can never lessen, and must always increase. ... Every struggle of the mind—be it struggle against pain, struggle against appetite, struggle for more skill in doing in the doing of anything, struggle for advance in any art or calling, struggle and dissatisfaction with your failings and defects—is an actual pushing of the spirit to greater power, and a greater relative completion of yourself,—and with such completion, happiness.

“There is more of you today, and more of every desirable mental quality belonging to you, than ever before. The very dissatisfaction and discontent you may feel concerning your failings is proof of this. If your mind was not as clear as it is, it could not see those failings. Only now, in looking at yourself, you may have swung too far in the opposite direction; and, because your eyes have opened to certain faults, you may think these faults are increasing.

“They are not. The God in yourself—the ever-growing power in yourself—has made you see an incompleteness in your character, yet that incompleteness was never so near a relative completion as now.

“You may have discovered under your house a cavity full of vermin and bad air. You were much worse off before the cavity was found, repulsive as it may be to you; because now that it is found, you will make sure it is cleansed.” ~Prentice Mulford

Part of God

Prentice Mulford was more a teacher of the mind than one of the spirit, yet much of what he says applies to spiritual development as well. His saying that we are part of God is a good example of that. It is not our physical bodies or even our minds that are from God and therefore part of God, it is our spirit. That is why awakening the spirit and soul is so important in spiritual development. One thing that some people forget in reading that however, is that a PART of God is not the same thing as saying we are God. A break pad may be part of a car, but without the thousands of other parts, it isn't a car, and would never claim that it is as such a claim is egotism at its worst.

Ever Growing Power

Here, I must disagree with Mulford. While in our youth, we are constantly learning and therefore growing mentally, as we age, we can lose much of that. It is why doctors and therapists today recommend the elderly do things like working word puzzles or trying to solve riddles. Such activities slow, or even stop, the deterioration of our mental faculties.

Second, on the spiritual side of it, most are not growing at all. The vast majority have spirits that remain in a dormant state as they have made no effort to awaken them, or have only used ineffective methods to awaken them. And even those who have been in spiritual development for years can backslide, or be completely turned away from the spiritual by the Forces of darkness. It is why we must always be vigilant once we start on the path of spiritual growth, and why being part of a spiritual community is so helpful. In a community, we can help each other, and protect each other, from the manipulations of the dark ones.

Disatisfaction and Discontent

It is true that dissatisfaction and discontent with where you currently are, mentally or spiritually, is actually a sign of growth, of learning. The person who is never dissatisfied never grows. It is an unfortunate part of human nature that we only make an effort to change when we are not comfortable with where we are. People who never question their own actions, beliefs, and thoughts never grow. Those who don't accept the need for any kind of spiritual development while living in the physical world never grow spiritually, in this world or the next.

Cavity of Vermin

Mulford is also correct in saying that we are better off knowing and recognizing a cavity of vermin under our house as we can then do something about it. Psychiatrists say that when one recognizes that they have a mental problem, they have made the first step in curing it. The same is true of mental and spiritual development. We are held back by the vermin of false beliefs and practices. To really grow in those areas, we must be able to push aside all preconceived notions, and see what the actual truth is. Of course, when it comes to the spiritual, we must first awaken the spiritual faculties with the Light of the Spiritual Sun.
