“Living Book of the Spiritual

Sun”

Living Book of the Sun

“He who cannot accept truth looks only on the surface and makes conclusions which his mind can accept. The same thing happens with him who does not understand the Sacred Book of Life. He is content to seek the superficial truth – he is not ready to seek its real content. As the book is a living and sensible book for one who understands it, so is the Sun a living and sensible book, which only a few can read and understand. Every morning the sun rises and a voice from the invisible world asks if you have read your page for today. The Sun is a book in the pages of which God every day writes something new. You may say that the Sun is something that has no intelligence. The Sun exists – it has abundant light which causes the fruit to ripen, the flower to bloom, the snow and ice to melt – how can it be said that it has no intelligence?

The light that the Sun sends to all the plants indicates that there are living beings in the Sun with a high level of intelligence and the ability to reason. Whatever the speculations about the Sun may be, it is important for man to know how to make use of the Sun's light and warmth and to achieve something from it. One day his eyes will open and he himself will be able to investigate. Therefore I say that man has a great future ahead of him." ~Beinsa Douno

Looking at the Surface

Many will not believe what Douno is saying about them looking only at the surface truth, and not going deeper to the real truth, yet what he says is correct. And it isn't limited to the average person who doesn't care to dig any deeper than what he needs to function in his daily life, get his job done, etc. Even scientists who think they are studying things all the way to the depth of molecules and atoms are still only looking at the surface. The level of matter is but one dimension of being. There are other dimensions above it and when you look at only that part that is in the dimensions of matter, you are looking only at the surface. You are studying the ten percent of the iceberg sticking out of the water and ignoring the ninety percent that is below the surface of the water. With a limited view like that, you may find some truth, but it will be limited, partial, and probably temporary.

As Douno also points out, even those who look beyond matter into the realm of spirit, but do so with an attitude of expecting it to be virtually identical to the dimensions of matter will not understand what they are seeing, feeling, and hearing. They will look at spiritual things with their physical senses and not be able to comprehend them because they will be seeing them in a very distorted way. Only the spiritual faculties of Man can truly see, feel, and hear the spiritual, but they must first be awakened as they are dormant when we arrive in the physical world.

“The solar discs that could power Earth”

Space-based power stations are turning from an idle dream into a serious engineering prospect, as scientists hope they can take renewable energy into orbit.

It sounds like science fiction: giant solar power stations floating in space that beam down enormous amounts of energy to Earth. And for a long time, the concept – first developed by the Russian scientist, Konstantin Tsiolkovsky, in the 1920s – was mainly an inspiration for writers.

A century later, however, scientists are making huge strides in turning the concept into reality. The European Space Agency has realised the potential of these efforts and is now looking to fund such projects, predicting that the first industrial resource we will get from space is “beamed power”.

Climate change is the greatest challenge of our time, so there’s a lot at stake. From rising global temperatures to shifting weather patterns, the impacts of climate change are already being felt around the globe. Overcoming this challenge will require radical changes to how we generate and consume energy.

The aim is that solar power stations in space will become a reality in the coming decades. Renewable energy technologies have developed drastically in recent years, with improved efficiency and lower cost. But one major barrier to their uptake is the fact that they don’t provide a constant supply of energy. Wind and solar farms only produce energy when the wind is blowing or the sun is shining – but we need electricity around the clock, every day. Ultimately, we need a way to store energy on a large scale before we can make the switch to renewable sources.

“Arrogant God and the Real

God”

Arrogant God of Matter

“Opening his eyes he saw a vast quantity of endless matter, and he turned arrogant, saying, ‘I am god, and there is no one but me.’ “When he said this, he sinned against all. And a voice came from above the realm of absolute power, saying, ‘You are wrong, Samael,’ that is, god of the blind. “And he said, ‘If any other thing exists before me, let it become visible to me!’ Immediately Sophia pointed her finger and introduced light into matter, and she pursued it down to the region of chaos. And she returned up to her light. Once again darkness returned to matter. “This ruler, by being androgynous, made himself a vast realm, an endless precinct. And he contemplated creating offspring for himself, and created seven offspring, androgynous like their parent. “And he said to his offspring, 'I am the god of all.' "Zoe the daughter of Pistis Sophia shouted, saying to him, 'You are wrong, Sakla' (for which the alternate name is Yaldabaoth). She breathed into his face, and her breath became a fiery angel for her; and that angel bound Yaldabaoth and cast him down into Tartaros, at the bottom of the abyss. "Now, when his offspring Sabaoth saw the strength of that angel, he repented and condemned his father and his mother matter. "He loathed her, but he sang songs of praise up to Sophia and her daughter Zoe. And Sophia and Zoe found him and put him in charge of the seventh heaven, below the veil between above and below. And he is called 'god of the forces, Sabaoth,' since he is up above the forces of chaos, for Sophia placed him there. "Now, when these events had come to pass, he made himself a huge four-faced chariot of cherubim and harps and lyres and an infinity of angels to act as ministers. "Sophia took her daughter Zoe and had her sit at his right to teach him about the things that exist in the eighth heaven, and the angel of wrath she placed at his left. Since that day, his right has been called life, and the left has signified the unrighteousness of the realm of absolute power above. It was before your time that they came into being." ~The Reality of the Rulers

Endless Matter

To the eyes of most of us, the realm of matter does indeed seem endless. Yet we are also told by scientists that the universe of matter is continuing to expand. If it is expanding, it must be expanding into areas where there previously was no matter. So the universe of matter may be enormous, but it isn't endless. It just seems endless to a limited mind. And since the arrogant "god" in the quote thought it was endless, he had a limited mind, unlike the true God.

The Arrogant God

If it isn't clear from the quote, this arrogant god who is claiming that he is god and there is no other god is the creator of the universe of matter. He is the being (or beings) called the Demiurge in Gnostic scripture.

WEEKLY MESSAGE: May 12, 2021

CŌSOLARGY.INTERNATIONAL
THE SACRED TEACHINGS OF LIGHT

HEAD OVERSEER'S WEEKLY MESSAGE

May 12, 2021

As we proceed with the commentary of the Eighteenth Saying of Jamil, we continue with The Man (who would have celebrated his ninety-fourth birthday yesterday) discussing the relationship between men and women in The Community and the significance of married people evolving towards a spiritual marriage at a certain point in their lives. This portion of the commentary also touches on how families within The Community – mother, father, and, importantly, children – essentially become a ministry unto themselves as they strive to create a new race of Light brings on earth.

The Eighteenth Saying (Part 3)

And The Man continued to speak.

“The Patriarchs will withdraw from the affairs of Man. They will be free to advise, counsel and guide the rulers and leaders of the world to spiritual ends. If a person is not divested of all earthly ties, that person foresees earthly solutions to earthly problems, whereas a truly devout and spiritual person will give spiritual solutions to earthly problems.

“Chastity was mentioned in the Saying. We must examine this state from several points of view. First, it is a natural state for a man of old age after having fulfilled his parental obligations. It is also the natural course for any man who truly wishes to emulate Christ. There is also a third point, often overlooked, which one should consider; chastity is a natural state for a man and a woman as they age in marriage. Men often overlook the fact that a truly spiritual woman wishes and desires to be loved spiritually, much more than she does physically. Men often have the tendency to see women simply as an object of pleasure, to be used for their entertainment and their lust. This is not the way women see themselves. A woman sees herself as a living spirit, every bit as noble and with all the merit of a man, and she wishes to be loved in spirit. Once a man begins to love a woman, as well as their children, in spirit and relinquishes attitudes of force, arrogance, tyranny, or brutality, he evolves to a higher state than simply manhood.

“‘Marriage should not be based on control. Spiritual love creates a much closer relationship, and the family indeed becomes Christ-like and a symbol of love and peace on earth. Where there is the love of Christ, there is permanence and beauty. This is a difficult thing for a person, in this case a man, to understand when he is young. However, though it may be very difficult, it is not necessarily impossible. And until a man really understands this and divests himself from the world, he cannot truly say that he is in the priesthood of God.

“‘Life in the world tends to separate rather than preserve the family. A man loves a woman very much, and they are very close, and they have children. The new addition to the family structure displaces both parents from their original relationship and this tends to separate them from one another through lack of understanding. When the children grow up, they become separated from the heads of the family. And over a period of time the family may be separated by illness and is finally separated by death. So, what does one have at the end of a lifetime? We certainly cannot say that life preserves marriage, family, or the physical body. Everything in this life passes away.

“‘The object of man and woman is to become spiritual so that they can go on to an afterlife together as friends, and with a memory of having been a family. So it is the spirit, it is Christ that keeps families together, not the world. The family is a nuclear unit. This religion is a nuclear religion that encourages the establishment of families that can bring into existence a special race of Light-bearing men and women. With the family elevated to its highest level through the man and the woman in God, the children do, in fact, become part of the ministry. And as members of a nuclear religion, the man, the woman, and the children are all part of the ministry together. In other words, the man does not become a priest and take the vow of chastity and separate himself from his family. That is a kind of selfishness. On the contrary, we do not draw further away but, like Krishna, we draw closer to our families once we remove ourselves into a higher level of Christ state.'"

Next week, when we continue with the Eighteenth Saying, the commentary will focus further on the symbolic nature of man and woman and their spiritual roles in The Community.

On Monday you should have received emails from us concerning next month's virtual 2021 Cosolargy Conference. You will excuse the initial confusion on the dates, but the Conference will begin on Sunday the 6th of June, which is Pentecost in our Sacred Calendar – a very important day. Beginning with the Sunday Sunrise Divine Service – which will be streamed, as usual via the Facebook Cosolargy Members Forum – another event will also be streamed later in the day. That event is a message that I will deliver live at the Monastery Gardens of the Red Rock Consecrated Sanctuary.

The following Saturday – June 12 – we will host an international Zoom session at 2 P.M. Pacific Daylight Time. This is when we ask that you log in and join other members of The Community from all around the world. During this time, you will be able to take a virtual tour of The Community and see some of our activities in many parts of the world, including Japan, Mexico, Australia and, of course, here in the United States.

Additional information and details will be sent to you over the next several days, so please mark this day and time in your calendar. We are hoping to have as many Community members as can participate from all around the world. I thank you for making this a priority.

Again, if I may be of any personal service to you, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours in Light+,

Gene
