

“Life on Venus: Not So Farfetched”

In my last blog I mentioned the vagueness of human history further back than 10,000 years before present. Early this week I was inspired to write about Venus, after being reminded how the proponents of the Electric Universe theory refer to the “birth of Venus” 10,000 years ago. The news today that scientists now acknowledge there might be life (according to their definition of life) on our sister planet, adds an interesting twist to the story.

The announcement on the scientific front was made by the Royal Astronomical Society in a press conference on Monday, following the discovery of phosphine on Venus. The gas is considered a ‘key biosignature,’ and the astrobiology community concede its presence in the Venusian clouds may indicate the presence of ‘aerial’ life high in the planet’s skies.

“Path to Immortality is Hard to Find and Difficult”

“The Path to Immortality is hard, and only a few find it. The rest await the Great Day when the wheels of the universe shall be stopped and the immortal sparks shall escape from the sheaths of substance. Woe unto those who wait, for they must return again, unconscious and unknowing, to the seed ground of stars, and await a new beginning. Those who are saved by the light of the mystery which I have revealed unto you, O Hermes, and which I now bid you to establish among men, shall return again to the father who dwelleth in the White Light, and shall deliver themselves up to the Light and shall be absorbed into the Light, and in the Light they shall become Powers in God. This is the way of Good and is revealed only to them that have wisdom.

“Blessed art thou, O Son of Light, to whom of all men, I, Poimandres, the Light of the world, have revealed myself. I order you to go forth, to become as a guide to those who wander in darkness, that all men within who dwells the spirit of My Mind (The Universal Mind) may be saved by My Mind in you, which shall call forth My Mind in them. Establish my Mysteries and they shall not fail from the earth.” ~Manly P. Hall

Path to Immortality

Considering how much time and money people spend on various products and methods to slow down the process of aging, you would think they would be pursuing immortality by the millions. Unfortunately, that isn't the case, at least not in any real sense. Yes, there are many millions of people who belong to churches that tell them they have joined the immortals just by joining that church. Now there are also many spiritual groups and schools that teach the same nonsense. “We are all immortal,” they claim. While they are not entirely wrong, they are not correct in this teaching either.

The basic idea of such a philosophy is that we need to make no effort whatsoever to become an immortal. If that were true, the great mystery schools of the past would never have existed. Why be moral, why be loving, why be kind, if everyone will achieve immortality anyway? But as already said, this is simply not true.

WEEKLY MESSAGE: September 17, 2020

CŌSOLARGY.INTERNATIONAL
THE SACRED TEACHINGS OF LIGHT

HEAD OVERSEER'S WEEKLY MESSAGE

September 17, 2020

Under more normal circumstances, last Sunday would have concluded The Community's annual Convocation. However, with Covid and the fires raging in California, it ended up being a wise decision not to have it this year. We have been inundated with high and unhealthy levels of smoke for the past few weeks and have had to cancel several of the past Sunday Sunrise Divine services.

On a more positive note, I am pleased to say that we continue to press on with important projects. We are currently finishing up some landscaping at the Sanctuary and making preparations to convert an appropriate space into guest quarters for those wishing to retreat to the Sanctuary. The healing waters at Steamboat have proved to be very beneficial to the general public in these stressful times, and our local presence is growing with increased numbers visiting the hot springs. While our Mexico project has temporarily been put on hold due to the pandemic, we continue with the necessary translation of our material into Spanish. This will turn out to be most valuable when we start offering our program to the Spanish-speaking world next year. Our Japan community continues to perform their regular weekend services and teaching programs; and our outreach efforts in Australia are ramping up.

I am also happy to report that we are working on adding new texts to the Solar Teachings – Cultures Series. As you know, this currently includes Israel, Egypt, Greece, Arabia, India, China, Oceania and the Americas. We will soon be adding Japan, Africa, and Britain and Ireland, among others. In addition to this, we are in the process of converting several of our texts into e-books, which we will be able to offer publicly on the Cosolargy website. We are beginning with the books on exploration (Antisuyo: The Search for the Lost Cities of the Amazon and On the Trail of the Feathered Serpent); the religious primer books (The Decoded New Testament, The Essaei Document: Secrets of an Eternal Race and The Lost Gospel of Jesus); and, of course, Project X: The Search for the Secrets of Immortality. These six books (including the Millennium Editions of the primer books) and Jamil: Child of Light will be the start of our offering a host of information online.

Finally, I do have news regarding our projects in Peru; however, I will save this report for another time. Let us now continue to the Fifteenth Saying of The Secret Sayings of Jamil.

The Fifteenth Saying (Part 1)

“And these are the words of the Fifteenth Saying:

‘The material light of the sun is not to be confused with the Light of God’s New Sun of Righteousness. Within the material sun are many powers that can quicken a person’s nature, and within its realms are many forms and entities that can entrap Man. But Man must needs penetrate these powers, which are of the Powers of Darkness, in order to gain the Light of God. Man must needs triumph over them; fly through them like an arrow directed toward the heart of heaven.

'In ancient times many solar cultures utilized the powers of the material sun, and therein was their downfall. While the energies of the material sun supply Man with light and heat and are the driving factors of his environment controlling climate and life, these energies are related to the material body of Man. If Man is to be freed from the darker part of his nature, he must conquer, or overcome, the darker impulses or powers also manifesting through the light of the material sun.

'Modern Man strives after the use of solar energy, as did ancient peoples. But if the same errors are committed and the creative powers of the universe are utilized for unjust ends, they will be entrapped and destroyed as were people in former ages of Earth. Know then, it is essential that there be a Community of learned persons who can instruct humankind in the proper use of energies from the sun without fear of breaking natural laws which the ancient, learned men and women of noble schools of religion and philosophy and science knew. And be quick to instruct those attending the school of Great Learning that the beginners in the sun absorb the darker side of the material sun's energies into their being. From this proceeds arrogance, pride, vanity, love of self and unrighteousness. Herein dwells the power of the ruler of the world, the evil one, who commands the fallen angelic host. All such beings strive to gain knowledge and would equate themselves with God. Such are the thoughts of the fallen.

'Instruct the beginners in the sun that many will fall away after a time, believing that the disciplines of The Community are non-essential, not necessary. These persons will return to the world, joyful in the thought that they have gained something of value for mind and body and spirit. Not realizing they are confused, they believe an untruth, and herein lies the beginning of their downfall for they join the legions of Dark beings who fell before them. Remember that the sons of Man are children of Darker beings who joined with the daughters of Earth eons ago. Thus it is their nature to strive for power.

'And to such persons apparitions, bright forms, and demons appear, filling their minds and thoughts with mischievous ideas of spiritual anarchy, disunity, and opposition to the will of God. These are the beings responsible for death and sorrow and who cause illnesses of mind, body and spirit. It was such beings that Jesus expelled from many people in olden times, and which all members of The Community must cause to be expelled from among them by the power of Christ in the Messianic Sun.

'God would not that Man perish. Death is the work of the wicked who lead men and women and the world astray.'"

And we will continue with the Fifteenth Saying next week. In the meantime, be well, keep healthy, and stay positive.

Again, if I may be of any personal service to you, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours in Light+,

Gene

“Clavis: An Interpretive Key to the Creation Story”

The following article is taken from the introduction to the new Australian Esoteric Magazine (see the foot of the page for a link to it). The issue covers the theme of events that are anticipated by many to take place in December 2020. Underpinning the prophecy is the hypothesis that we humans are not merely the product of chance, but rather the result of intervention(s) by more advanced intelligent beings. Drawing on all the relevant sources, here is how I summarise the historical background to the condition of the modern human today.

Prior to 40,000 years ago there were Neanderthals and Cro-Magnons coexisting in Europe. Today, all humans are classified academically as being modern Homo Sapiens-Sapiens. We know a lot about human history going back 2,500 years because it has been documented. Then we have stories, artefacts and buildings going back to 5,500 years ago; beyond that is commonly called 'prehistory' and things get a little hazy.

“Eagle and Phoenix, Material and Spiritual”

“Among the Greeks and Romans, the eagle was the appointed bird of Jupiter and consequently signified the swiftly moving forces of the Demiurge, hence it was looked upon as the mundane lord of the birds, in contradiction to the phoenix, which was symbolic of the celestial ruler.

“The eagle typified the sun in its material phase and also the immutable Demiurgic law beneath which all mortal creatures must bend. The eagle was also the Hermetic symbol of sulfur, and signified the mysterious fire of Scorpio—the most profoundly significant sign of the zodiac and the Gate of the Great Mystery. Being one of the three symbols of Scorpio, the eagle, like the Goat of Mendes, was an emblem of the theurgic art and the secret processes by which the infernal fire of the scorpion was transmuted into the spiritual light-fire of the gods.

“Among certain American Indian tribes the thunderbird is held in particular esteem. This divine creature is said to live above the clouds, the flapping of its wings causes the rumbling which accompanies storms, while the flashes from its eyes are the lightning.” ~Manly P. Hall

Eagle Symbolology

I had never heard before reading the above quote that the eagle was considered to represent the Demiurge. Having read that, however, it does make sense. The eagle is to many the king of the birds, but this is in a material sense, not spiritual. After all, eagles are raptors, birds of prey. They do not live on berries and nuts, they certainly don't love on light. They are meat-eaters. That makes them among the most materialistic of birds. So since the Demiurge is the Lord of Matter, they represent that being.

The eagle is a symbol of strength, courage, and leadership. Some say that seeing an eagle is a symbol that you are soon to have a spiritual experience or encounter with a spiritual being. That seems to contradict what Hall says above, but such opposite in symbolism is not unusual.

WEEKLY MESSAGE: September 11, 2020

CÔSOLARGY INTERNATIONAL

HEAD OVERSEER'S WEEKLY MESSAGE

September 11, 2020

Passing of The Man (2007)

It is hard to believe my father, The Man, has been gone from this Earth for thirteen years. Nevertheless, our Community is still here, growing and progressing in the Light! Please say a prayer for his risen Soul in your own way when you have a moment, and light a candle of remembrance if you wish.

Today's scripture is rather lengthy, but it deals with transcending life in this world by living the Life of Light as did Jesus and Jamil and, of course, The Man. It is this Life to which we are all heir in God's Second Advent through the Sun of Righteousness.

The Fourteenth Saying (Part 6)

"And then The Navigator spoke: 'You say again and again that we are to exemplify the life of Jesus as well as of Jamil. However, how can we understand the life of Jesus when we only have a very incomplete account of his life from scripture? He was a powerful figure, a man of great force and character. The fragmentary account of his life does not give us much to go on. When we hear you speak of Jesus (your information must have been communicated to you by Jamil, about his role as an Essaei and the life of the Essene communities which were expecting a Messiah and a Teacher of Righteousness), we have a totally different picture, a more complete picture of Jesus as a man and teacher.

“‘Here was a man who came upon the Jewish scene from out of nowhere – if we are to believe the New Testament accounts – one who did nothing of any great merit until he was thirty years of age. Then, all of a sudden he taught for a few months and was crucified. He was gone from the world. How can we attempt to exemplify his life which we do not know. For example, we cannot go to the Christian churches and throw out the priests because they are not teaching the true teachings of Christ, as Jesus drove the moneychangers and rabble from the temple. Neither can we exemplify his actions when he openly attacked the Pharisees and the Sadducees. How can we get a better picture of the life of Jesus in order to exemplify it?’

“And The Man replied saying, ‘It is true that Christian scripture does not afford us a drama of the life and teachings of Jesus. Indeed, what is available in the Gospel accounts is not only incomplete, but is also contradictory. The Community of Christ, an extension of Christianity, is inspired of God and therefore has been given many of the keys to scripture. We have come into a repossession of the teachings of Jesus. The supplemental material which Christ has revealed to us gives us a better idea of the life of Jesus. Through The Teachings which have been restored to us we are reconstructing that which was lost to the Christian Church many centuries ago. At our next Community assembly you will each receive copies of two texts, The Essaei Document: Secrets of an Eternal Race, and The Lost Gospel of Jesus: The Hidden Teachings of Christ, which will help amplify our knowledge.

“As for living the life of Jesus, who is really very remote to us, we must always remember that we are not expected to live his life, though we must honor and remember him with love and respect. What is expected of us is to exemplify, in our own time, the Life of Light as Jesus did in his. And Jamil has instructed us on how to do this in our modern world. The person of Christ come as Jamil the Child exemplified the Life of Light in our age. It is that life that we are expected to live and exemplify, not the life of Jesus.

“We are told in scripture that Jesus taught The Way, the Life of Light, and that he extended the keys to the Kingdom. These are beautiful thoughts, but they do not tell us how to find The Way, how to live the Life of Light, how to find the keys to the Kingdom. Jamil came to instruct us in these secret teachings. He has revealed to us the Sun of the Resurrection – that very same Sun which inspired and nurtured Jesus.

“Thus, Jamil has inspired us to raise our eyes and spirits to the Sun as Messiah. This spiritual Sun is the fountainhead of the Word of God filled with His Thought and Will.

“During his lifetime, I observed Jamil very carefully. He appeared to exist not on earthly food, but on some eternal essence direct from God. He lived on the Breath of God, which he found in the rocks, the trees, the wind. I am not speaking of animism; Jamil was not a nature worshiper. He was involved with the Consciousness of God, which he was able to find within the natural environment. It was as if he was able to look upon the Light of the traces left by Holy Ones – Jesus, Moses, Buddha and others, as well as of all people who ever lived – and attune to them as much as he did the living. He sensed them in the environment, just as he sensed the presence of God in the sun. Jamil exemplified the life of love. He implanted himself in all life and allowed all life to implant itself in him. He was one with life. Each of us must learn how to exemplify this nature; something which I might say requires the whole of one's lifetime to achieve.

“From Jamil, I learned the meaning of immortality. Death meant nothing to him; it was as much a part of him as life. Indeed, everything was life to him, even if it meant dying, for in dying he transcended the Earth and went to a more meaningful life in the Light. I am sure that Jesus felt somewhat like Jamil.

“I believe Man has lost the ability to be immortal because he has learned to fear death, to fear nature, to fear God, to fear life, and to fear the natural environment. Jamil taught me the needlessness of fearing death and the unknown. At the time of the avalanche in Peru and the passing away of so many people, Jamil was beautiful to behold. He gave so much hope to lost souls. He was a guiding light to them, and they came to him like lost sheep. I think he tried to tell people that in death there is only change. I think Jesus tried to tell this to one of the thieves who was crucified with him.

“Jesus did not come to Earth to die on the cross. However, he did not fight death when it did come. Jesus was a man of peace, not a man of violence. For example, when Jesus was in the Garden of Gethsemane and Peter wanted to defend him and cut off an ear of a soldier with his sword, Jesus rebuked Peter and healed the soldier. Jesus neither fought nor opposed, not even the laws of Rome. When he was on the cross, he forgave those who killed him. To him, life or death on this planet was all the same. He was not of this world; he was from another world.

“I learned much about Jesus during Jamil's last days in the Andes of Peru. We can all learn more about Jesus by careful study of the life of Jamil. During his short life on Earth, Jamil taught me the meaning of peace of mind. Never at any time did he struggle against the events of life; his life was of acceptance. When his half-brother struck him in Jalapa, Mexico, on the roof garden and later in the garden in Trujillo, Peru, Jamil did not strike back. He never at any time demonstrated violence. It seemed as though he looked to the cause of his brother's anger and resentment against him, and then by love and understanding, healed that hurt. And then there was peace between them. At other times Jamil did not allow his half-brother to strike him; he simply held the older boy at arms length until he tired.

“Jamil's concept of God was much different from that described in scripture: a vengeful God striking back at the Egyptians, killing people who disobeyed Him, sending His only son to be crucified so that his blood would atone for the sins of Man. The Christian concept of the old church is a negative one of guilt, fear and death. Man lives in sin and error; he is continually enveloped with guilt; his body is looked upon as being corrupt; he is wicked, evil. Such a concept prevents Man from loving God and looking for Him in the world in which he lives. It contributes to hateful feelings toward others, who are also viewed as wicked and evil. Above all, it contributes to self-hate.

“Jamil has taught us how to love God. He has left with us a pattern which we can follow to exemplify the Life of Light. He was totally good. Can you imagine what this means? Totally good – we cannot even conceive of such a state. The Child was sinless. I remember trying to get him to eat food. He would give it to someone else. He seemed to find enjoyment in watching other people, people who were hungry and needed the food, enjoy themselves. Jamil, like Jesus, taught love, hope, and faith.

“We know from the Teachings and Sayings of Jamil that salvation is not realized by belief in the goodness of Jesus or by acceptance of his goodness. One has to live the Life of Light. Immortality is not attained by blind faith, or false hope or feigned love out of fear of death. To realize one's immortality one needs to express that immortality. In other words, it is a way of life that has to be realized in order to be understood. Very few Christians realize what it is really like to live the Life of Light. Jesus and Jamil demonstrated this Life. We are instructed to follow it.

“‘To live or exemplify the life of a Jesus or a Jamil, a Life of Light, natural Man must pattern his life after a higher one. Once this is done and the Teachings are expressed, one automatically lives that life. The Christian religion can never be meaningful to Man as an instrument of God unless it instructs humankind in how to attain immortality. Immortality is a realization, a state of mind and spirit, something to be achieved. Immortality begins when man and woman lives the life of Christ.

“‘That Jesus lived on Earth is not sufficient in itself to make Man immortal. The Christian who merely believes Jesus was Christ and accepts him as his savior is not realizing the Life of Christ. Christians must identify with Jesus. To do this they must express the life Jesus lived. This is the whole key.

“‘I said earlier that Jesus is remote from us in our day and age. This is true, but only because Christian scripture has separated him from us by giving us an incomplete picture of him. Jesus was a member of the Essaei Community. He looked at the sun as we do. In this respect we share the spirit of Jesus and we share his wealth. Thus, to know the life of Jesus is to live it and share with him the Mystery of God.’

“And hearing no further questions, The Man prepared to read the Fifteenth Saying.”

We will proceed to the Fifteenth Saying next week.

Again, if I may be of any personal service to you, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours in Light+,

Gene
