

“Mystery Signals May Be Coming From One of The Rarest Stars in The Galaxy”

A few years ago, a radio telescope operating out of the desert of Western Australia observed something very weird.

Just 4,000 light-years from Earth, something was emitting a bright radio signal like nothing we'd ever seen before: flashing like a pulsar, but with a super long period between pulses, and a super long pulse itself. The nature of the source was impossible, at that point, to discern.

“Hubble Gets its Best Look At the First Quasar”

The term quasar comes from quasi-stellar objects, a name that reflected our uncertainty about their nature. The first quasars were discovered solely because of their radio emissions, with no corresponding visual objects. This is surprising since quasars blaze with the light of trillions of stars.

In recent observations, the Hubble examined a historical quasar named 3C 273, the first quasar to be linked with a visual object.

On Some Aspects of God

“David in the Psalms says, ‘I believe I see the goodness of the lord in the land of the living.’ He also says, ‘Let your good spirit lead me on a level path.’ Solomon declares, ‘But the just will inherit the earth and live on it forever.’ About creation, I wish to confess that our lord God is the creator and author, but not of the elements of the world, which are impotent and empty, and as Paul said in Galatians, ‘How can you now turn back to the impotent and empty elements under which you suffer a new slavery?’ The messenger also says in Colossians, ‘If with Christ you died to the elemental spirits of the universe, why do you live as if you still belonged to the world?’

GOD HAS NOT MADE DEATH

“ Even less can we admit that our lord is the creator and author of death, and of the things that are, by their essence, in death, because, as it is written in the book of Wisdom, 'God has not made death, and he does not rejoice at the loss of the living.' There exists, then, with no doubt whatsoever, another creature or factor, who is the principle and cause of death, of perdition, and of all evil.

ON THE OMNIPOTENCE OF THE TRUE LORD GOD

"I wish to speak now of the omnipotence of the true lord God, which so often permits our adversaries to play the glorious one when they claim against us that there is no other force or power than theirs. Although in the testimony of the holy scriptures, the true lord God may be called all powerful, one must not believe that he is called that because he can do and does all evils, because there exist many evils that the lord cannot and will never do.

THAT GOD CANNOT DO EVIL

"If God does not want to do all the wicked things, if he does not want to lie or destroy himself, surely he cannot. Because what God in his unity does not want to do, he cannot do. And what he cannot do, he does not want to do. And in this sense, one must say that the power of sinning and of doing evil does not belong to the true lord God. All that is thought to be God's attributes and conduct is not accidental, as the learned know. It necessarily follows, then, that God himself and his will are one and the same. The good God cannot lie or commit every kind of evil, if he wants to, because this true God cannot do what he does not want to, we repeat, since he himself and his will are one and the same.

-Book of The Two Principles

Goodness of God

Yes, God is good in the Land of the Living. Actually, God is always good. But what is the land of the Living? It is the realm of spirit, especially the highest level of spirit that most call Heaven or Nirvana. The Earth, currently a part of the physical realm created by the false god, the Demiurge, is a place of death and disease. Yet Solomon says 'the just will inherit the earth and live on it forever.' Which means the Earth must change back into a world of spirit so eternal spirits can live here.

God Doesn't Kill

In many cases, people believe that God kills under certain circumstances. That is not true. God never kills. Some will argue that if God allows demons, devils, and evil people to kill, that is the same as if God kills them. That is like saying a rock is a killer because someone shaped the rock into a spearhead. In any case, God doesn't kill because it is pointless to kill the physical body which is already temporary, and God cannot kill the eternal Soul as he made it to be immortal.

God is Omnipotent

God is all-powerful and indestructible. While the false gods will say otherwise, the true God remains the only God that is omnipotent. There is a simple reason for this. When you put together the spirits of all beings, all things, all spirits of any kind, you have God. There is no way for anyone to destroy all of that.

God does not do Evil

Some think that if God is omnipotent, then he must do evil as well as good, but simply because God is all-powerful doesn't mean God does all things, including evil. It is the very nature of God to be Good, to be loving, to be forgiving. Only false gods do evil, get jealous, take revenge, etc. The true God is not like that.

“Our Sun Could Be Overdue For a Violent Superflare, Study Warns”

Our Sun is not a peaceful place. It roils with convection; its magnetic field snaps, finds a connection, snaps again. It unleashes eruptions of energy in the form of violent flares, and plasma in the form of coronal mass ejections.

Most of this activity lacks sufficient punch to harm us... but every now and then, the Sun erupts with a flare powerful enough to do serious damage. And we don't know how often such events occur. Previous estimates have the range between once a century and once a millennium.

“NASA Captures Black Hole Jet Blasting a Mysterious Object”

One of the strangest galaxies in the neighborhood of the Milky Way has just presented astronomers with a fascinating mystery.

It's called Centaurus A, and huge jets of plasma shooting from its central supermassive black hole have slammed into something as they travel into intergalactic space.
