The screenshot shows the Facebook interface for the 'Cosolargy Members Forum' group. The group is marked as a 'Private group'. The left sidebar contains navigation links: About, Discussion (selected), Members, Events, Photos, Watch Party, Moderate Group, and Group Quality. Below these is a search bar and a shortcuts section listing various groups like 'Cosolargy', 'Natural Health & W...', 'Solar Wind', 'How I Lost 80 Pounds', 'OMG', 'Jace Norman Fans...', 'Cosolargy Members Fo...', and 'Nametests'. The main content area features a large cover photo of a tall, blue, metallic structure on a hillside. Below the cover photo are buttons for 'Joined', 'Notifications', 'Share', and 'More'. A post creation bar includes options for 'Write Post', 'Photo/Video', 'Live Video', and 'More'. Below this is a text input field with a placeholder 'Write something...'. Further down are buttons for 'Photo/Video', 'Watch Party', 'Tag Friends', and a three-dot menu. A 'Recommended Groups' section suggests linking existing groups. The 'NEW ACTIVITY' section shows a post by 'Michael McIntyre', a founding member, dated March 22 at 6:24 PM. On the right, there are sections for 'POPULAR TOPICS IN POSTS' (Vacation Photos (2), Convocation Photo...), 'INVITE MEMBERS' (with an 'Embed Invite' link), a list of 'MEMBERS' (28 members), and 'SUGGESTED MEMBERS' (Friends) including Rosie Andlauer, Barbara Whitney, and Jim Elliott, each with an 'Invite Member' button. A 'DESCRIPTION' section at the bottom right explains that 'Cosolargy' is a word derived from three root meanings: co-, for 'c... See More'.

Hello Fellow Consociates,

If you watch television at all you probably know that in recent weeks Facebook has been running a major promotion on Facebook Groups with the slogan “There’s a Facebook Group for everyone.”

If you haven't seen any of these commercials, click here to see one.

Even before this promotion started, there were Consociates of Cosolargy who felt that we should have a group of our own on Facebook. Several weeks ago, our Head Bishop, Gene Savoy, Jr., said in a staff meeting that we needed to get this done, and so the group was created. It is named the "Cosolargy Members Forum" and is open to all Cosolargy members.

If you are not familiar with Facebook groups, there are two basic types: open and closed. Open groups allow anyone to join, while closed groups are open only to those who meet certain requirements. In the case of our group, it is open only to members of Cosolargy. It is also a private group, meaning that anything posted on it is shared only with other group members. And when you get a post from the group on your timeline, it will not have a share button on it. This is so members can feel free to discuss things that are not usually revealed to the general public about Cosolargy and its teachings.

The group has most of the standard rules for posting and commenting, plus one or two extras. Here is a list of them:

Group Rules from the Admins

1. Be Kind and Courteous

We're all in this together to create a welcoming environment. Let's treat everyone with respect. Healthy debates are natural, but kindness is required.

2. Avoid politics.

3. No Hate Speech or Bullying

Make sure everyone feels safe. Bullying of any kind isn't allowed, and degrading comments about things like race, religion, culture, sexual orientation, gender or identity will not be tolerated.

4. No Promotions or Spam

Give more than you take to this group. Self-promotion, spam and irrelevant links aren't allowed.

5. Respect Everyone's Privacy

Being part of this group requires mutual trust. Authentic, expressive discussions make groups great, but may also be sensitive and private. What's shared in the group should stay in the group.

Anyone who is in the group is free to comment and post. Posts do not always have to be serious, or directly about Cosolargy. Recently, some of us have been posting favorite vacation photos. Others have posted jokes or memes they found interesting. It is just a discussion group for all Cosolargy members, so if you are not yet a member, click here to join. And if you have never joined Facebook, now might be the time to do so.

History has shown how religions, like governments, become oppressive when power is invested in the hands of a few and men are ruled not by just law but by unjust men. The longing for freedom of person and the right to know God resulted in the founding of America. The Christian Church of Europe had become too restrictive, just as the national or civil religion of Israel had been in the time of Jesus. History repeats itself.

Modern times have seen a resurgence in religious feeling and expression. The individual is interested in religion. However, unfulfilled by the established and more formal churches and religious institutions, the greater number of seekers have turned to metaphysical or esoteric groups which were once thought to be occult, pseudo-religious, or off-beat. The dark arts, black magic, spiritism, shamanism, demonology, theosophy, and Rosicrucianism have been, and continue to be, examined to one degree or another. There has also been a renewed interest in Eastern religions. In an effort to find greater meaning in their lives and to open new vistas of human understanding, large numbers of curious and interested persons have investigated and become involved in meditation, mind or body control, brain altering systems, human engineering, and personality expansion programs. Not knowing where to turn, the disenchanting, who yearn for deeper spiritual experiences, seek some expression in the numerous cults that have sprung up of late - the offshoots of the established churches and metaphysical sciences. These so-called cults are, for the most part, syncretisms or eclecticism, each choosing the best features from a number of sources or systems including philosophy, psychology, religion, physics, and communication sciences.

The ideas of the Swiss psychologist, Dr. Carl Jung, were familiar to Savoy also. His reading of Jung's commentary on the writings of Richard Wilhelm's translation of the Chinese classic, The Secret of the Golden Flower, opened up new vistas for study. Thus, Savoy undertook a serious study of oriental religions. He was fortunate in coming into contact with immediate associates of Dr. Paul Brunton, the English mystic. From Brunton he learned of the possibility of the immortality of the human soul, something which was more than a doctrine. This was a factual possibility which had been known to the old hierophant mystics in such places as old Egypt and India. Though Savoy learned much from Brunton's ideas, he ascertained that the elusive mystery of such transformation of being remained just that; a mystery. He was intent on discovering how this was achieved. He was no longer content with simply reading about such ideas.

From a study of Jung, Savoy reasoned that psychology had not become a real science of the mind and psyche, nor attained such heights as had the natural sciences in matters of physical reality. To do so, it would have to achieve what classical physics had with the discovery of physical reality. This would entail the framing of a science of soul, an art of spiritual birth, a technology that would put the soul in contact with the creative force and energy of the universe. A body of knowledge such as the one envisioned would necessitate its fusion with high religion. Savoy knew that if he were to solve the mystery of transformation of being, he would have to labor outside the discipline of psychology and enter into the realms of transcendent religion. He figured out that the methods of natural science might allow some access to the workings of the mind and psyche, but not to the spirit/soul of man.

Promoting Cosolargy in Australia

The latest edition of the thought-provoking Australian magazine New Dawn (January-February 2020), a bi-monthly publication that explores ancient wisdom and new thinking on unexplained and behind-the-scenes events, contains a well-placed advertisement for Cosolargy, thanks to Cosolargy International's Australian representative Paul Young. The ad (see below) appears in the central part of the magazine, the "Mind/Body/Spirit" supplement, which is a good place for it.

The posting of the ad is all due to Paul's work. The Community Communique editor talked to Paul about how all this happened to come about. His response appears below in interview format:

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: When did you first start writing for magazines?

PAUL YOUNG: Writing for magazines has been part of my life for many years now. As a condition of my Diploma course with the Writing School of Australia in 2003, I was required to submit a certain number of articles to newspapers and journals. The object was to learn how to present, or pitch stories, and my tutors didn't really expect them to be published early on, so they were as surprised as I was when a few of mine were taken up. The first was a piece about the suburb I lived in, which was picked up by my local newspaper. Buoyed by my initial success, it wasn't long before I decided that I should have a go at writing for publications that reflected my own interests, namely spiritual, esoteric and metaphysical themes.

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: When did you first start writing for New Dawn magazine?

PAUL YOUNG: My first association with New Dawn magazine was in issue #80, September 2003, when they ran my piece 'The Power of Four in the World.' Over the next couple of years though, I found my real niche as a regular contributor to a monthly journal called Insight which, sadly, went out of business some time after I moved overseas in 2007. I loved the fact that Insight's editor gave me free rein and rarely made any alterations to my work. While manning a booth for Insight at a 'Mind, Body Spirit Festival' in Brisbane about 15 years ago, I found plenty of time to chat with New Dawn's editor, who was stationed in the adjacent booth, and we covered many matters of mutual interest.

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: How and when did your interest in the Sun come into your writing?

PAUL YOUNG: During a 5-year sojourn living and teaching in Chiang Mai, Thailand, my long-held fascination with the Sun developed into something much more intense, yet I was unsure of the right way to pursue it. Soon after returning to Australia, I felt the need to write on a regular basis again, as I find writing to be an enjoyable and relaxing creative outlet. I approached New Dawn and they asked me if I would be willing to do a series for them on the esoteric and spiritual legacy (history) of Australia – a challenge I willingly accepted and which resulted in a half dozen lengthy stories on that theme.

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: At some point, your writing for New Dawn led you to begin advertising Cosolargy in the magazine. How did that happen?

PAUL YOUNG: In the ensuing years, New Dawn has also asked me to write several pieces on the ongoing mystery of flight MH370, and have published a few of my own contributions with solar themes. During 2018 I acted as one of their book reviewers, doing an average of three reviews per issue, but I have put that to one side for the time being. There is rarely monetary payment in this industry in Australia, as most contributors get a trade-off in promoting their own books and/or workshops. In my case, the publishers of New Dawn are always willing to reciprocate with favours, so I am putting that to work by way of reduced-cost advertising for Cosolargy, in line with my commitment to act as country representative and promote our Organization to the fullest extent I can.

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: Now you are helping Cosolargy International post ads in New Dawn on a regular basis. How did you accomplish this? And what do you expect will be the result?

PAUL YOUNG: During the first half of 2020 we are running half-page ads for Cosolargy in New Dawn magazine. My approach to this is that we are not trying to convince or persuade anybody to do anything they would not otherwise feel inclined to do. I believe there are others out there who, like me, have felt drawn to the influence of the Sun and have wondered how to go about discovering solar techniques, and the way to apply the benefits in their life. My intention is to get the message out on platforms where such people are most like to encounter it. Those who see it and resonate with it then just need to take the next step and talk to us!

Project X: The Search for the Secrets of Immortality -- The Explorations

Gene Savoy always set his sights high - beyond mere discovery of ruins which pale before the discovery of the greatness of the civilization that made them. To Savoy the past can only serve the future. Therefore, his explorations were the stepping stones to discoveries of the intangible, non-physical or spiritual legacy of the ancients, and were not necessarily meant for public acclaim. A man ahead of his time, Savoy determined early in his career that there is a real need to protect truth from the skepticism and cynicism of the world. And so, he quietly hid his "real research." [...]

It has often been said that Gene Savoy has done for metaphysics what Albert Einstein has done for physics. His primary interest has been and continues to be in religion; not the orthodox religions of the first dispensation of Christianity, but of a universal religion that embraces all the aspects of man, his place in and relationship to the whole of Creation - a religion of participation in universal laws rather than one of mere faith and belief. [...]

In addition, Savoy has produced a steady stream of unparalleled, transcendent literature since 1957. These publications include 59 books on theology and religion, and 276 recorded lectures. His internationally acclaimed Decoded New Testament and The Essaei Document; Secrets of an Eternal Race are major contributions to an understanding of the Essenes and the Dead Sea Literature. His is the first work that has brought to light the real teachings of the Essene sect, that sect of which Jesus supposedly was a rabbi. The majority of his religious works deal with revelations and amendments to the Christian religion as presently known, prophecies, wisdom teachings, and theory and techniques meant only for the practitioner of Cosolargy, a system of religious disciplines originated by Savoy.

Jamil: The Child Christ

Birth of the Child Announced

An illuminated one, self-generated, and pre-existent, is destined to come into the world as the revealer of a new teaching to fulfill the old. God shall send him clothed as an innocent child, and from him will come a pure Teaching. And all the Prophets of all time will honor and acknowledge him as he light of the world, for he shall be a king from the Sun.

His sign will be the Cross of Enlightenment and the New Sun of Righteousness that will appear in great glory to alleviate the sufferings of mankind. He shall be accompanied by a multitude of Great Ones. The Child will usher in a New Age for mankind.

The Child comes not to be worshiped, but to reveal the Truth and announce to all men the means of attaining their spiritual heritage.

Light Body Activation in Cosolargy

There is much opinion on the internet and in books about what the light body (or bodies) is, and how it should be activated.

One website called Expand Your Awareness says there are three things you must do to activate your light body. It further says the light body is our higher self.

Jamil: The Child Christ

The Revelation

The voice of the Angel spoke from within his being saying: "The New Advent is approaching. One will come into the world to teach the spirits of men and to inaugurate a Christ Age. From earliest times it has been written that God shall send a Holy One at a time when the sovereignty of the world will have passed over to Christ and the consummation of time will have occurred. ...

The Eternal Child of Light, seeking to restore the world, will put on terrestrial garments and appear as other men; he shall give sight to the spiritually blind. And on this day of days, the treasure of Manna will descend from on high, and the day of the Visitation will have begun. That which was dead shall live again. The Seals shall be opened."

Spiritual Awakening as We Know it in Cosolargy

If you read popular spiritual texts, notice the posts and comments on spiritual groups on social media, or just ask a friend what spiritual awakening means, you are likely to get many different answers. They vary from the idea that there is nothing to awaken, to we are born awake, to spiritual awakening is impossible until after you die. Our concept falls between those extremes.

Some think that it simply means losing our social masks and enchantment with materialism. Others actually believe that simply becoming vegan, or experiencing some synchronicity means you have awakened. Those are good first steps, but not the whole thing. A real awakening is life-changing.

Project X - Chapter 10

While the spiritual body inhabits a higher dimension, it remains attached to the physical body. That is, the higher consciousness of the spiritual body is able to communicate with the lower mind of the physical body, illuminating it from time to time. Upon death of the physical body, the two merge, and the energy, or vital force, of the individual dissolves into a new form. The whole being is absorbed by the higher entity. In the meantime, there is periodic contact or union between the two; there are flashes of intuition, memories, recalls, images from the future. Relationships between persons of this world and those of another world can vary in degree. Mental events are different for spiritual events. One has to learn how to distinguish between the two or - more important - to be aware of the spiritual, to identify with it. That is the joining of the twins, the royal marriage. When it occurs, a person exist in two worlds at the same time - in a manner of speaking anyway.

Hermeticism and Unity with God

"Another system that should perhaps be fitted into the Gnostic framework is Hermeticism. It is very diverse and it draws its material from many sources within the Western Mystery traditions; it considers that the whole of mankind is on a spiritual journey that is designed to return to a state of unity with the mind of God and this state of unity is its prime purpose; and it holds that spiritual growth cannot be achieved without human effort. If humanity is to reach the Divine therefore, we must aspire to the Divine." ~Bernard Simon

Project X - Chapter 9

Looking into the dawn, I felt something like that - a sense of unity with the sun. I felt connected to it. My heart beat in harmony with the sun and my whole being pulsed with it in a unified rhythm. It seemed that my mind was expanding to embrace the external universe, the stars of the heavens, then contracting to embrace the inner world, the atoms comprising all living things. I was part of all life, vibrating with the sun in a cosmic dance in which I was a participant, not an observer. I began to experience other dimensions of being, as if I were actually part of celestial realms, transported to the sun and beyond through a gate to the realm of higher intelligence. I entered a world beyond space and time, a world not experienced by the normal mental faculties, and I participated in thoughts never experienced by my mind. Ninety-three million miles did not separate my being from the sun - in that very instant I was one with it. For the first time the sun as the eye of God looking into the depths of my soul.

My eyes were doing more than just seeing or experiencing the electromagnetic radiation of the visible spectrum, which causes light and color perception in material space and time. With my new sense of vision I was seeing points of solar illumination the many areas of the sky. I saw multitudes of suns, not just one, and energy seemed to be streaming into my being from all of them. The nerve cells in my eyes and brain tingled I felt aglow, radiant. I was also seeing the light of the invisible sun, and it to me. More astounding, the sun was responding to my projected thoughts as a living organism would. As I transmitted telepathically to the sun, it was transmitting telepathically to me.

A Big Heart and an Open Mind Aids Spiritual Growth

"Let me urge you, my child, to enlarge your heart; or rather, suffer it to become enlarged by grace. This contraction shuts you up in yourself, and hinders an agreeable openness which we should ever maintain, even towards those who have no particular affinity with ourselves. An open, frank exterior wins confidence. Let it not appear that you have so much relish for yourself as not to think of others. What seems to be a virtue is sometimes regarded by God as a fault; and which we shall so perceive when we have clearer light.

"I entreat you, pass beyond the narrow bounds of self; suffer yourself to be led out of self into the will and way of God. Thus you will be much more happy and useful." ~Madam

Project X - Chapter 2 At the Sun Temples

"Leaning my head back against the rock, I closed my eyes, wondering about the significance of the golden image and where I had gone wrong. While I was deep in contemplation, the rays of the sun penetrated the foliage canopy and fell on my eyelids. Instinctively, I opened my eyes and looked into the sun. At that instant, a ringing sound penetrated the depth of my being, and I could not move. Every nerve fought to control my form, but I was unable to call out or even blink my eyes; yet my mind remained perfectly alert. Then I was totally paralyzed, having lost control over my body entirely. I was unaware that the second hand of my watch had begun to speed up. A pulse of energy coursed through my being.

Suddenly, the golden image reappeared, this time out of the sun itself. I became aware that I had stopped breathing, that I could no longer hear my heart beating. I felt suspended in space and time. The eyes of the golden image gazed into the center of my being and when its form drew closer, I felt myself wanting to merge with its radiance.

Was this to be my final transition? Was I transcending the earth to a higher dimension of reality? Perhaps this was what it was like to die. If that was true, at least there was no pain in the exit from the world; I felt no fear either, only the sensation of being unable to move my body. Was it catalepsy? My mind was clear; there seemed to be no loss of sensibility. It couldn't be an epileptic attack, for my body was unconvulsed and I was not in a trance-like state. These and other thoughts rushed through my mind, which seemed clearer than ever before in my life.
