WEEKLY MESSAGE: March 14, 2020

CÔSOLARGY.INTERNATIONAL
THE SACRED TEACHINGS OF LIGHT

HEAD OVERSEER'S WEEKLY MESSAGE

March 14, 2020

As we approach the anniversary of the birth of The Child, Jamil, on March 16th, it is important for us to remember his message. It is even more important for us to strive to live his Teaching. These important words from the Twelfth Saying emphasize unity within The Community, commitment to The Teaching, and dedication to The Light. This saying also touches on the important responsibility of all to support the Order in the material world, a responsibility which is often overlooked by members of the Order.

The Twelfth Saying (Part 2 of 4)

“And after completing his reading of the Twelfth Saying, The Man put down the scroll on the table and awaited a response from the listeners. And the Fourth Mariner took a copy of The Prophecies of Jamil, First Prophecy to the Americas and read from page 203 saying: ‘In the first part of the paragraph it states, and I quote, “Demand of those who would receive this knowledge that they dedicate themselves no less than holy men of former times,” and at the end of the paragraph, “Require that those receiving the books of knowledge give of themselves and their holdings in order to perpetuate the New Community.” This seems to tie in with the stress on the Saying we just heard, which states that unity is the first and highest commandment. Here emphasis is placed on commitment. Each Community member is asked to choose between the Light and the Dark, and to dedicate themselves in a way that is appropriate with this prophecy. The Saying stresses the need to perpetuate this teaching found throughout both prophecies, and in the book of Jamil, The Child Christ. The evangelistic charge permeates throughout.’

“And The Man replied: ‘All the holy prophets asked of their followers that they dedicate themselves to the respective teachings completely. In the case of Jesus, he asked each to pick up the cross and follow him. We know that the original followers of Christ joined in community, gave up the world, dedicated their entire being to the teachings, and gave all of their holdings so the Community might flourish. It was not because they wanted the Community to be a material power that they gave of their possessions, but to show their total dedication to the Order. This idea was universal among the followers of Jesus and the apostles. Those who joined the Church left the world and gave of themselves completely. This was the first and foremost obligation expected of members. After all, each wanted to put their holdings at the disposal of the primitive Church so that the greatest good would come of them. It was the same for the Essenes, Theraputae and early Christians. Of course, if for any reason members left the Community their holdings or the value received was returned. No religious community wants to make commerce of its members. But it must insist upon dedication and withdrawal from the world. One cannot become enlightened while still living in the world. Naturally, there is a time and a season when this must be accomplished; some are prepared to leave the world sooner than others, but the fact prevails that as long as a person remains in the world and is bound by possessions, he or she is not completely free to live the life of Christ and serve in community. This is logical. And I presume that this is what is meant in the case of the Twelfth Saying and the passages from the Prophecies which you just read.

"In my own case, every time I have had commitments in the world they have always interfered with my work in the Church. And there has always been a conflict. It is very easy to let worldly influences turn a person from one's objective. The world has a tendency to cloud one's vision. One cannot always see clearly what one must do, and in many cases there is confusion. I believe this is what Jamil is trying to point out. Large numbers of individuals are not needed to make the Teachings effective; it will be by unity of those few preordained who believe in the concepts and who can work together. At one time there were only thirteen Christians. And they moved the ancient world."

I trust you will join me in partaking of the Communion of the Sun of Righteousness this coming Monday, March 16th and recommitting yourself to the maintenance and perpetuation of The Community in the world of matter.

Again, if I may be of any personal service to you, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours in Light+,

Gene

THE SACRED TEACHINGS OF LIGHT

COSOLARGY NEWSLETTER March 2020

Greetings!

Welcome to our monthly bulletin with information of interest to friends of Cosolargy International. In this issue we bring you up to date with current and future events and provide a little background on our founder, the late Gene Savoy Sr, and his explorations into solar cultures, along with some uplifting words of inspiration.

If you are curious about the solar techniques and activities of our Community, contact us by using the Contact Form on the Cosolargy International website. It will be forwarded to the appropriate representative for your area.

Extract from Project X: The Search for the Secrets of Immortality -- The Explorations

The ideas of the Swiss psychologist, Dr. Carl Jung, were familiar to Savoy also. His reading of Jung's commentary on the writings of Richard Wilhelm's translation of the Chinese classic, The Secret of the Golden Flower, opened up new vistas for study. Thus, Savoy undertook a serious study of oriental religions. He was fortunate in coming into contact with immediate associates of Dr. Paul Brunton, the English mystic. From Brunton he learned of the possibility of the immortality of the human soul, something which was more than a doctrine. This was a factual possibility which had been known to the old hierophant mystics in such places as old Egypt and India. Though Savoy learned much from Brunton's ideas, he ascertained that the elusive mystery of such transformation of being remained just that; a mystery. He was intent on discovering how this was achieved. He was no longer content with simply reading about such ideas.

From a study of Jung, Savoy reasoned that psychology had not become a real science of the mind and psyche, nor attained such heights as had the natural sciences in matters of physical reality. To do so, it would have to achieve what classical physics had with the discovery of physical reality. This would entail the framing of a science of soul, an art of spiritual birth, a technology that would put the soul in contact with the creative force and energy of the universe. A body of knowledge such as the one envisioned would necessitate its fusion with high religion. Savoy knew that if he were to solve the mystery of transformation of being, he would have to labor outside the discipline of psychology and enter into the realms of transcendent religion. He figured out that the methods of natural science might allow some access to the workings of the mind and psyche, but not to the spirit/soul of man.

Promoting Cosolargy in Australia

The latest edition of the thought-provoking Australian magazine New Dawn (January-February 2020), a bi-monthly publication that explores ancient wisdom and new thinking on unexplained and behind-the-scenes events, contains a well-placed advertisement for Cosolargy, thanks to Cosolargy International's Australian representative Paul Young. The ad (see below) appears in the central part of the magazine, the "Mind/Body/Spirit" supplement, which is a good place for it.

The posting of the ad is all due to Paul's work. The Community Communique editor talked to Paul about how all this happened to come about. His response appears below in interview format:

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: When did you first start writing for magazines?

PAUL YOUNG: Writing for magazines has been part of my life for many years now. As a condition of my Diploma course with the Writing School of Australia in 2003, I was required to submit a certain number of articles to newspapers and journals. The object was to learn how to present, or pitch stories, and my tutors didn't really expect them to be published early on, so they were as surprised as I was when a few of mine were taken up. The first was a piece about the suburb I lived in, which was picked up by my local newspaper. Buoyed by my initial success, it wasn't long before I decided that I should have a go at writing for publications that reflected my own interests, namely spiritual, esoteric and metaphysical themes.

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: When did you first start writing for New Dawn magazine?

PAUL YOUNG: My first association with New Dawn magazine was in issue #80, September 2003, when they ran my piece 'The Power of Four in the World.' Over the next couple of years though, I found my real niche as a regular contributor to a monthly journal called Insight which, sadly, went out of business some time after I moved overseas in 2007. I loved the fact that Insight's editor gave me free rein and rarely made any alterations to my work. While manning a booth for Insight at a 'Mind, Body Spirit Festival' in Brisbane about 15 years ago, I found plenty of time to chat with New Dawn's editor, who was stationed in the adjacent booth, and we covered many matters of mutual interest.

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: How and when did your interest in the Sun come into your writing?

PAUL YOUNG: During a 5-year sojourn living and teaching in Chiang Mai, Thailand, my long-held fascination with the Sun developed into something much more intense, yet I was unsure of the right way to pursue it. Soon after returning to Australia, I felt the need to write on a regular basis again, as I find writing to be an enjoyable and relaxing creative outlet. I approached New Dawn and they asked me if I would be willing to do a series for them on the esoteric and spiritual legacy (history) of Australia – a challenge I willingly accepted and which resulted in a half dozen lengthy stories on that theme.

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: At some point, your writing for New Dawn led you to begin advertising Cosolargy in the magazine. How did that happen?

PAUL YOUNG: In the ensuing years, New Dawn has also asked me to write several pieces on the ongoing mystery of flight MH370, and have published a few of my own contributions with solar themes. During 2018 I acted as one of their book reviewers, doing an average of three reviews per issue, but I have put that to one side for the time being. There is rarely monetary payment in this industry in Australia, as most contributors get a trade-off in promoting their own books and/or workshops. In my case, the publishers of New Dawn are always willing to reciprocate with favours, so I am putting that to work by way of reduced-cost advertising for Cosolargy, in line with my commitment to act as country representative and promote our Organization to the fullest extent I can.

COMMUNIQUE EDITOR: Now you are helping Cosolargy International post ads in New Dawn on a regular basis. How did you accomplish this? And what do you expect will be the result?

PAUL YOUNG: During the first half of 2020 we are running half-page ads for Cosolargy in New Dawn magazine. My approach to this is that we are not trying to convince or persuade anybody to do anything they would not otherwise feel inclined to do. I believe there are others out there who, like me, have felt drawn to the influence of the Sun and have wondered how to go about discovering solar techniques, and the way to apply the benefits in their life. My intention is to get the message out on platforms where such people are most like to encounter it. Those who see it and resonate with it then just need to take the next step and talk to us!

Funeral Mass for Former Reno Mayor Attended

A funeral mass was held on February 20, 2020 at St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church for former mayor of Reno Robert A. (Bob) Cashell, who passed away February 11th at the age of 81. Bishop Gene Savoy Jr. attended as a representative of the International Community of Christ Church.

Mr. Cashell was a long-time Nevadan. Originally from Longview, Texas, he moved to Reno in 1964 and became a successful businessman and also served as mayor of Reno (2002-2014), Lieutenant Governor of Nevada (1983-1987), and on the Board of Regents of the Nevada System of Higher Education (1979-1982).

Bishop Savoy had this to say about Bob Cashell: "Bob was a genuine individual from the old school. He had a knack for working with people and bringing them together. He was always a supporter of interfaith relations, and I got to know him while serving as president of the Nevada Clergy Association from 1999-2017. He was a friend of our church, and I got to know him even better when I was invited on to the advisory board of Volunteers of America, a charity that was very dear to his heart.”

WEEKLY MESSAGE: March 4, 2020

CŌSOLARGY.INTERNATIONAL
THE SACRED TEACHINGS OF LIGHT

HEAD OVERSEER'S WEEKLY MESSAGE

March 4, 2020

We will now proceed with our review of the Twelfth Saying of The Secret Sayings of Jamil. I hope you are finding value from our review of these very important scriptures which are oftentimes overlooked in favor of our Prophecies and Revelations which are, of course, also very profound.

I have broken this Saying into four parts. This Saying and its commentary are important as it specifically touches on the importance of Community – a concept continually emphasized by my father, The Man. Let us begin with the Saying itself. Next week, we will start with the first portion of the commentary which deals with dedication to The Teaching, as well as support of The Community.

The Twelfth Saying (Part 1 of 4)

“And when The Man had untied the string that bound the scroll he began to read to the men. And these are the words of the Twelfth Saying:

“‘There will come to The Community seekers after spiritual gain who will believe, by reason of their experiences in the ways of the world, that spiritual things can be gathered as can material things. And they would use the Sun of Righteousness for their own selfish ends; using the energy therein not for the good of The Community, nor for the good of mankind, but for their own benefit. They would place those personal benefits above all else, seeking after long life, health, greater intelligence, and higher position, misusing God’s Light for ignoble ends, seeking knowledge, beauty, friendship, and sensuality to become authoritative over lesser men. I say unto you it would be better for such persons that they had never looked upon the face of the Sun to enjoy the beauty of Light. For such goals caused the angels to fall from their lofty heights. I say unto all mortals that the Sun which God has placed in the heavens shall in no way be abused, for the blessings shall be withdrawn from the Light, as is sweetness from a fruit turned bitter. God has ordained that a new religion come into the world to teach the salvation of Man. Unity is the first and highest commandment. For if man not unify into one single community, then diversity has begun. And I say unto you that it shall not be by diversity that God’s new Church will flourish. Let no one believe that the Sun of Righteousness is his to command or to gaze upon outside of communal life. God shall cause a harsh brilliancy to shine upon such eyes to blind the soul to the Image and the Word therein. For those noble souls who bind themselves to The Community, God shall extend a manifold blessing, and they shall share in the benefits that none other shall know, for they acknowledge that the Sun of Righteousness is of God, and under His governorship, and is not to be abused by petty men or women for selfish and gainful ends.'”

Again, if I may be of any personal service to you, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours in Light+,

Gene
