

“Works of Sinners and Works of God”

“Marvel not at the works of sinners; but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labor: for it is an easy thing in the sight of the Lord on the sudden to make a poor man rich. The blessing of the Lord is in the reward of the godly, and suddenly he maketh his blessing flourish. Say not, What profit is there of my service? and what good things shall I have hereafter? Again, say not, I have enough, and possess many things, and what evil shall I have hereafter? In the day of prosperity there is a forgetfulness of affliction: and in the day of affliction there is no more remembrance of prosperity. For it is an easy thing unto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his ways. The affliction of an hour maketh a man forget pleasure: and in his end his deeds shall be discovered. Judge none blessed before his death: for a man shall be known in his children. Bring not every man into thine house: for the deceitful man hath many trains. Like as a partridge taken and kept in a cage, so is the heart of the proud; and like as a spy, watcheth he for thy fall: For he lieth in wait, and turneth good into evil, and in things worthy praise will lay blame upon thee. Of a spark of fire a heap of coals is kindled: and a sinful for he worketh wickedness; lest he bring upon thee a perpetual blot. Receive a stranger into thine house, and he will disturb thee, and turn thee out of thine own."

~Ecclesiasticus

Works of Sinners

What Ecclesiasticus means by "the works of sinners" is those things made by or deeds done by man, which are not done in accordance with the Law of God. Such creations may seem like wonderful things to materialistic people, but they are not. When are done without taking God's Law into account, they may harm the environment, waste natural resources, give off harmful radiation, or otherwise cause damage to the world.

Obviously, things like murder, rape, and theft are the works of sinners, but Ecclesiasticus is talking about the less obvious ones. The buildings we build, the statues and monuments, the labor-saving devices that make us fat and lazy.

“Sun Vibes: ‘Love Hertz’”

Consider for a moment all the frequencies that travel through the air and bombard your body on any given day: from mobile phones, wi-fi, radio, microwaves and ☐ coming soon ☐ 5G. These manmade inventions all transmit at different frequencies that are constantly penetrating our brains. Modern devices emitting artificial electromagnetic radiation are said to be linked to anxiety, depression, insomnia, and even cancer.

Being attracted to the Sun as I am, I decided to check what, if any, frequencies linked it with us human beings, particularly with a view to reunifying the divided Self – Head and Heart. Of course, there is an infinite variety of frequencies that originate from the Sun and stream towards us, ranging from the extremely low infrasonic to the ultrasonic.

Once you start researching the matter, it becomes obvious that a lot of online bloggers are simply playing around with numbers. There are several different frequencies claimed to match the oscillation of the Sun – and the frequency of love.

Some websites claim that frequencies such as 396, 639 and 963 hertz are beneficial for achieving your goals and attracting abundance (this includes the renowned LOA expert Bob Proctor) and, as you might expect, there are often soundtracks for sale to help you attune with them. I think this owes something to the concept allegedly stated by Nikola Tesla: “If you knew the magnificence of the three, six and nine, you would have a key to the universe.”

Often these recorded soundtracks are binaural, meaning you get different wavelengths through each ear using headphones – one in their chosen higher range and the other, for example, perhaps matching the brain’s Alpha pattern. A hertz, I should mention, simply means one cycle per second, and is named after the German physicist who identified it in the 19th century.

It seems to me that if you want to attune with another plane, you must be on the same frequency as it, just as a radio must be tuned into the wavelength of the transmitting station. So, I went searching for the frequency that best attunes our Heart and Head.

“Live Again Through Spiritual

Rebirth”

“That which most men would think themselves most happy for, and would prefer before all things, if the would grant it unto them after their deaths, thou may while thou lives grant unto thyself; to live again. See the things of the world again, as thou has already seen them. For what is it else to live again? Public shows and solemnities with much pomp and vanity, stage plays, flocks and herds, conflicts and contentions; a bone thrown to a company of hungry curs; a bait for greedy fishes; the painfulness, and continual burden bearing of wretched ants, the running to and fro of terrified mice; little puppets drawn up and down with wires and nerves: these be the objects of the world among all these free from all manner of indignation; with this right ratiocination and apprehension, that as the worth is of these things which a man does affect, so is in very deed every man's orth more of less." ~Marcus Aurelius

Prefer to Live Again Before All Things

I'm not sure all men prefer it above all other things, but I think it is true of most of us. What we want is to live for a long time. A very long time. We want it so badly that many have accepted the idea that we are reborn into the world over and over again with very little evidence to back up the belief. But many are not just satisfied with being born again. They want to be reborn smarter, richer, more attractive, and otherwise better than they are now. Aurelius is saying that it is possible, and without waiting for death and the afterlife. You can live again now, not later.

Grant Unto Thyself

Aurelius is saying that rather than waiting for death to bring us to a better, more illuminated life, we can seek and gain that life now, while still alive on earth. This is what has been taught by mystics and mystery schools for ages, but only a few ever listened. That is changing, though, now that we are at the dawn of a new Golden Age of Spirit. The spiritual sun known as the Sun of Righteousness is now shining down on us. This is making it easier for men to awaken and develop their spiritual faculties. It is also making it more imperative since the arrival of this sun also marked the beginning of the End Times, the age when the illusions of materialism will be pushed away and the truth revealed. We are learning to live again and be reborn right where we are.

“Statutes of Men and the Law of God”

“Man directs his life by the laws of God and the statutes of men. The statutes of men, which are for the good of men, are to be upheld by the Children of Light, who shall not live for the next life only.

“These laws, though stricken on marble and set up on everlasting pillars at the gateways of the temples, are but diversions for the eye and exercise for the tongue, unless graven also on the tablets of your heart. Thus, you shall not fall into error.

“A man does not obey the statutes because they are the law of the land, but because they accord with his nature and inclinations. The true nature of Man stems from the Godly directive within and is, therefore, above the edicts of kings.

“In upholding the laws and statutes, the chief concern should be a man’s good intent. If he intends well and is diligent, he can be forgiven much, but if he intends well but is thoughtless, then he shall not be looked upon so kindly. Remember; men do not dispense justice, they can but hope to serve it. God alone knows what is good or wicked within his heart, therefore, He alone can dispense true justice.” ~The Kolbrin Bible (MAN:8:1-4)

Law of God

To anyone who is truly spiritual, the Law of God reigns supreme. God knows all. God is all. So to try to second guess God is foolhardy. Of course, the real problem is to distinguish what is actually the Law of God from what is the opinions of men putting words into God’s mouth. The only way to truly know God’s Law is to awaken our spiritual faculties. The awakened soul is then in direct contact with angelic beings and occasionally with God, therefore, it knows truth and it knows God’s Law. What’s more, it knows the importance of following God’s Law and has no interest in rebelling and doing its own thing.

“Mighty Wisdom and the Golden Age”

“Wisdom reacheth from one end to another mightily: and sweetly doth she order all things. I loved her, and sought her out from my youth, I desired to make her my spouse, and I was a lover of her beauty. In that she is conversant with God, she magnifieth her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things himself loved her. For she is privy to the mysteries of the knowledge of God, and a lover of his works. If riches be a possession to be desired in this life; what is richer than wisdom, that worketh all things? ... If a man desire much experience, she knoweth things of old, and conjectureth aright what is to come: she knoweth the subtleties of speeches, and can expound dark sentences: she foreseeth signs and wonders, and the events of seasons and times. ... For her sake I shall have estimation among the multitude, and honour with the elders, though I be young. ... I shall set the people in order, and the nations shall be subject unto me. Horrible tyrants shall be afraid, when they do but hear of me; I shall be found good among the multitude, and valiant in war. After I am come into mine house, I will repose myself with her: for her conversation hath no bitterness; and to live with her hath no sorrow, but mirth and joy. Now when I considered these things in myself, and pondered them in my heart," ~The Wisdom of Solomon

Mighty Wisdom

Wisdom is mighty because with wisdom, we can conquer all adversaries and adversities. Wisdom does give order to all things. In other words, things that seem strange, unpredictable, or unreasonable, make perfect sense when one has wisdom. Mighty wisdom turns apparent chaos into order that cannot be seen when looking only at the material side of life. Wisdom looks at the whole picture on the levels of matter, psychic, and spiritual laws and rules. By seeing the whole picture, order becomes obvious.

“Materialist Worldview and Emerging Worldview”

“It may not come as news to you that the Materialist worldview we were taught in school is incorrect and what scientists, high school science teachers and university professors have been propagating based on that worldview for the past hundred years or more is off the mark. As you know, true believers in Materialism think that matter is all there is, that all the matter in the universe and all the laws that govern it came from nothing with a big bang, and that we humans can be compared to robots with computer-like brains and when the plug is pulled on what they see as our human-body machines, we die and that’s it—lights out. Anyone paying attention nowadays realizes that does not appear to be the case. The rapidly emerging view is that we are eternal, spiritual beings having a temporary physical experience. This first began to penetrate my consciousness forty years ago when I read Live After Life by psychiatrist Raymond Moody, a qualitative study for which Moody interviewed 150 people who had undergone near-death experiences. Many, many such reports and studies have been published since that validate Dr. Moody's book, the best known recently being Proof of Heaven by neurosurgeon Eben Alexander. The vast majority of the public is probably unaware, however, that evidence gathered by highly credible scientific researchers clearly indicates the brain does not create consciousness and that it now appears certain the brain is a receiver of consciousness, an organ that evolved in order to bring consciousness into the physical dimension. ... Since each new organ developed in response to a need, why would the brain be an exception? Smith and his colleagues put forth a convincing argument that intelligence came first, quite able to function without a brain in its own realm." ~ Stephen Hawley Martin

Materialist Worldview

Part of the materialist worldview is that matter is all there is and spirits, angels, and God are just the fantasies of the immature. There are others, however, who have a slightly different view. They accept that there may be spirits, or beings living in a non-material plane of existence, but they are not important to us while we are on the physical plane. We need to concentrate, they believe, on the place where we are and not worry about other dimensions of reality. In my opinion, this is just a slight variation on the materials worldviews since it produces the same result: people who don't concern themselves with their spiritual side.

“WHAM: Whole Heart And Mind”

During this time of lockdown due to Covid-19, many have paused to reflect on what is really important and meaningful in their life, and what they might do differently when it's all over.

How well do you – the ‘ego personality’ – know your true Self?

The answer to this question can only come from your heart. This does not require a separation of the head and heart, but rather a connection.

We often wonder whether we should follow our head or our heart. Rather than see this as an either/or choice, we should draw on both sources to serve us simultaneously and in harmony. The connection of head and heart is part of the Self-realization process: make the two into one. This ends the internal division we humans experience and makes us whole again.

“Mortal Man and Spiritual Man”

"I myself also am a mortal man, like to all, and the offspring of him that was first made of the earth, And in my mother's womb was fashioned to be flesh. ... And when I was born, I drew in the common air, and fell upon the earth. ... For all men have one entrance into life, and the like going out. Wherefore I prayed, and understanding was given me: I called upon God, and the spirit of wisdom came to me. I preferred her before sceptres and thrones, and esteemed riches nothing in comparison of her. Neither compared I unto her any precious stone, because all gold in respect of her is as a little sand, and silver shall be counted as clay before her. ... I learned diligently, and do communicate her liberally: I do not hide her riches. For she is a treasure unto men that never faileth: which they that use become the friends of God, being commended for the gifts that come from learning. God hath granted me to speak as I would, and to conceive as is meet for the things that are given me: because it is he that leadeth unto wisdom, and directeth the wise. ... For he hath given me certain knowledge of the things that are, namely, to know how the world was made, and the operation of the elements: The beginning, ending, and midst of the times: the alterations of the turning of the sun, and the change of seasons. ... For wisdom, which is the worker of all things, taught me: for in her is an understanding spirit holy, one only, manifold, subtle, lively, clear, undefiled, plain, not subject to hurt, loving the thing that is good quick, which cannot be letted, ready to do good, ... For wisdom is more moving than any motion: she passeth and goeth through all things by reason of her pureness. For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence flowing from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing fall into her. For she is the brightness of the everlasting light, the unspotted mirror of the power of God, and the image of his goodness. " ~The Wisdom of Solomon

Mortal Man

Solomon, or whoever actually wrote this book using his name, that he is a mortal man like any of us. By this, he means that he is physically mortal for his mortal body will die one day, just as will ours. He adds that he was fashioned of flesh in his mother's womb, and born into the common air. He was not born in any special way that should make us think he was some special sort of being and not an ordinary human. Yet we all know that he was far from being an average person.

“The Path of Truth and Joy”

*“O thou that lovest, wouldst thou know
The path wherein thy feet should go?”
“Yea, teach it, Lord, to me.”
Through drear repentance leads the way,
And the shame of sin confessed—
And when thou hast trod on the world’s display,
And on the devil’s behest,
And on the flesh in its haughty pride,
And on thy helpless will,
That holds the soul of the chosen bride
In bonds and slavery still,
And when the enemy conquered lies,*

And weary art thou and athirst—
Then to Him whom thou lovest lift thine eyes,
To Him who loved thee first.” Then shall He speak and say—
I hear a voice that calleth amain,
A voice of love and tears;
I have wooed, and I have listened in vain Through long, long years—
And it speaks to-day.
My heart is troubled, and I must haste To the sad sweet voice across the waste.”

And in the morning, when the dew is sweet,
She hears the gentle music of His feet— She hears Him speak and say,
I heard thy voice.”
The glorious One draws nigh;”
“Amidst the dew when all the woods rejoice
With gladsome melody.
And she arrays herself in fair attire,
In raiment of a bride;
Her mantle is the holy judgment fire
Wherein the gold is tried.
Of meek humility her stole is spun, Her robe is white as snow,
For unto Him, the High and Holy One,
She fain would go.
And thus she passeth through the forest dim,
Where holy people dwell,
And day and night, with dance and song and hymn,
Their gladness tell;
With solemn dance of praise that knows no end,
Hands linked with other hands of ancient years;
The mighty faith of Abraham His friend,
The longing of His seers;
The chaste humility of her who bore God’s blessed Son;
And all the victories that in days of yore
His saints have won—

*These join in dance attuned to glorious song
And move in cadence sweet,
And multiplied as ages pass along
Are those rejoicing feet.” ~Matilda of Magdeburg*

The Path

Matilda starts her poem by asking God to show her The Path. This is not a path to her home or a path through a forest. By The Path, she means the path of spiritual awakening and the path of spiritual enlightenment. This is something that many who call themselves spiritual these days don't believe in. When false teachers are questioned about why the path they teach is so different from that taught by the ancient mystery schools, they will usually answer that there are many paths and we must each follow our own path. This idea has caught on with many, especially those who don't like being told what to do. But it is a false teaching. Yes, it is possible to reach enlightenment by more than the tried-and-true path, but the direct path that is known to work is always the best. If you are in Paris, France, and you wish to go to Rome, you can head off in many directions, but if you head north or east it will take you forever to get there. It is best to head in the right direction. That is why smart spiritual students like Matilda ask to be shown the correct path, the one that is known to work.

“Sacrifice Self-Interest and Greed for Real Success”

“If people refuse to make sacrifices voluntarily, they will be forced to do so from without. Everyone can see the impending catastrophe, but not everyone knows how to avoid it. For centuries, unconscious mechanical forces have been accumulating like floodwaters in front of a dam. The strain is so great that catastrophe is inevitable. Soon the dam will give way. The energy that has accumulated within people hides great danger. Until now, this energy has remained yet to be utilized. In the past as well as in the present, people have continued to demonstrate great cruelty. At present, millions of people are becoming the victims of human madness.”

Afterward, justification is found in external causes.

“Enormous amounts of gas, oil, and other resources are wasted due to the modern technical means of air, ground, water-based, and submarine warfare. Nature has strictly defined how much of these goods can be used. She severely punishes those who go too far with wastefulness. Human kind will bear the consequences for squandering these fuels.

“Unprotected cities are being bombed! ... This terror is unprecedented! ... Nobody has the right to deprive a human being of what God has given him. ... When nations fight, this is not in accordance with the Will of God.” ~Biensa Douno

How To Sacrifice

Don't get the wrong idea. Douno isn't advising us to sacrifice animals or our children on an altar to some god of violence. He is talking about sacrificing personal comforts and desires in order to do God's Will and make the world a better place for all of us. Sadly, we have many needy people today who don't get this. Even sadder, we have many more who admire the greedy people who care nothing about other people or the environment.

Impending Catastrophe

Only those who keep their heads in the sand and the fantasies of Fox News can say that we are not already in an age of catastrophes. But the catastrophes that have happened in the last few decades will be mild compared to what is coming if we don't do something to change it. The fate of our world is largely in our hands. God will not take over and fix it as long as we exercise our free will to refuse His aid. We were created to be participants in the process of creation. We need to start doing so but in a responsible way. That means following the Will of God. Following our own ideas is what creates catastrophe. The sacrifice of our own arrogance is the way to fix these problems.
