

Sharing Frequencies and Energy

“The more you match other people’s varying frequencies without returning to your own center and home frequency, the more confused—and confusing to others—you become. ... When you match a field with a low vibration and feel worse for doing it, the action may be unconscious, but it’s still your choice. ... Because we tend to match each others frequencies, you might make a game of becoming a clear space in the world. You might ‘strike your tuning fork’ to radiate high-frequency energy to everyone you encounter. ... Also note that groups have inner blueprints, or morphic fields, created by the collective.” ~Penney Peirce

Just as a tuning fork will pick up the frequency of another vibrating one and start vibrating at the same frequency, or as close to it as it can get, so do we. When we are around other people, our vibration rate is affected by theirs, and theirs is affected by ours. But just as the moons gravitational pull on the Earth is much less than the gravitation pull the Earth exerts on the moon, some people's frequencies affect us more than others, and to some degree we can control this.

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette's blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette

The Great Destiny of Man

"O Great and Bountiful One, ... You prepared a compatible place for the spirits of man, a place wherein man rules under the decrees of you everlasting and unchanging Law. ... The spirits of men rule in the mysterious domains governing the sun and the moon, the stars and the nightwatchers, the mistmen and the hidden caves of power. ... You have created man in the likeness of an original conceived in your mysterious abode, and the manner of his life is fixed according to your plan. Great and wonderful is the ultimate destiny of man, who as yet, has progressed but a few steps along the road towards the goal of life. Yet, you have opened his ear to mysterious and wonderful things." ~The Kolbrin Bible (SCL:20)

This particular chapter of the Kolbrin Bible seems to be confusing and mixing spiritual things and the non-spiritual world of matter, yet a spiritual student can glean some useful information from it.

We are told that God has prepared “a compatible place for the spirits of man.” That is absolutely true, but the place for the spirits of men is the spiritual realms—often called Heaven—not the physical or material level. Yet, it is true that God’s Divine Law governs the physical realm just as much as it governs the spiritual ones, the only difference being that in the physical world, the laws of nature are in between those of God and man so it may seem like God’s Law doesn’t rule here, but it does. Although Nature’s Law is dominant on the physical plane, Nature’s laws must always conform to God’s Law and therefore God’s Law is still in control on the lower levels.

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette’s blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette

Center of the Light of God

Woman stands in praise before a beautiful night sky.

"Dear Children, consider, how mightily and powerfully, with wonders, miracles, and works, the Spirit of God went forth in word and deed in the times of the Apostles, and after, till Antichrist and the spirit of self-pride, with his invented laws and astral wisdom broke forth. ... And so the man of pride makes as if himself had Divine Power upon Earth, and knows not in his blindness that the Holy Ghost will not be bound. ... "But if any would attain Salvation, he must be born again, through the water in the center of the birth of life, which springs up in the Center of the Light of God, for which end God the Father has by His Son commanded Baptism, that so we might have a Law, and a remarkable sign or remembrance."
~Jacob Boehme

Yes, in the Time of Jesus and his Apostles, the Holy Spirit was strong in the world and materialism was kept in check while true religion and spirituality was allowed to thrive. But as Boehme indicates, that soon changed through the work of the Antichrist and his minions.

Whether you think of the Antichrist as an evil person, a spirit, or just a force that encourages evil and anarchy, doesn't really matter. What does matter is that this Thing has, for thousands of years, interfered with any attempts by man to climb out of the hole of matter, the cave of materialism, and communicate once again with the angels, the Beings of Light, and God Himself.

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette's blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette

God Isn't Punishing Us, We Punish Ourselves

"The Yogi teachings related to the law of Karma do not teach us that sin is an offense against the Power which brought us into being, so much as it is an offense against ourselves. We cannot injure the Absolute, nor harm It in any way. But we may harm each others, and in so doing harm ourselves. The Yogis teach that sin is largely a matter of ignorance and misunderstanding of our true nature ... The Yogis view the sinning soul as the parent does the child who will persist in playing with forbidden things [until he is injured]. The injury is not a punishment for the disobedience ... but comes in obedience to a natural law which is invariable. ... The parent sought to save the child the pain of the burn, and yet the child-nature persisted in experimenting, and was taught the lesson." ~William Walker Atkinson

Many people believe that God Himself is punishing us when we do something wrong or something stupid. As Mr. Atkinson points out, that is neither true, nor necessary. God simply has laws, as does nature, and those who insist those laws can be violated quickly find they can't.

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette's blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette

Recollection of Our True Self

"You will have noticed, as with practice your familiarity with the state of Recollection has increased, that the kind of consciousness which it brings with it, the sort of attitude which it demands of you, conflict sharply with the consciousness and the attitude which you have found so appropriate to your ordinary life in the past. They make this old attitude appear childish, unworthy, at last absurd. By this first deliberate effort to attend to Reality you are at once brought face to face with that dreadful revelation of disharmony, unrealness, and interior muddle which the blunt moralists call 'conviction of sin.' Never again need those moralists point out to you the inherent silliness of your earnest pursuit of an impermanent thing: your solemn concentration upon the game of getting on." ~Evelyn Underhill

Recollection can result in this reevaluation of priorities, just as Ms. Underhill wrote. This is not just ordinary recollection, of course. Remembering where you left your car keys won't have this effect, nor will remembering the name of your third-grade teacher. The type of Recollection Underhill is talking about is the recollection of your true nature: who you truly are, where you came from, what is the purpose of your life, that sort of thing. Mystics and adepts call this "showing your real face." In this case, showing your real face to yourself, not necessarily to others.

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette's blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette

Divine Music

Violin with wings

“I will rejoice and sing songs of praise with a full heart; I will shun the hypocrisy of moving lips. I will be joyful in the fullness of spirit at the beginning and at the end of the appointed seasons. The decrees of God are fulfilled at the appointed times, and the days of labor pass one into the other. ... I will raise my voice, and my hands will move with the music, I will pluck strings and send sweet musical sound rising to my God, and my breath will fill pipes with tunes to His Glory. When the sky blushes in the dawning, I will lift up my voice in gladness, and when it reddens in this evening, I will not remain silent” ~The Kolbrin Bible SCL:18:9-11

This is a case where scripture is meaningful as allegory, but also when taken literally. We will look at both, starting with a literal interpretation.

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette's blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette

Another Kind of Knowledge

“SOCRATES: Is there not another kind of word or speech far better than this, and having far greater power—a son of the same family, but lawfully begotten?”

PHAEDRUS: Whom do you mean, and what is his origin?

SOCRATES: I mean an intelligent word graven in the soul of the learner, which can defend itself, and knows when to speak and when to be silent.

PHAEDRUS: You mean the living word of knowledge which has a soul, and of which the written word is properly no more than an image?

SOCRATES: Yes, of course that is what I mean."

There is indeed a form or speech or thought that is greater than the traditional intellectuality that is so popular today. You can call together a dozen different experts and get a dozen different opinions on an important matter in their field of study. How can it be otherwise when they deal in opinion, not known truth?

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette's blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette

Real Genius

"In those abnormal types of personality to which we give the name of genius, we seem to detect a hint of the relations which may exist between these deep levels of being and the crust of consciousness in the poet, the musician, the great mathematician or inventor, powers lying below the threshold, and hardly controllable by their owner's conscious will, clearly take a major part in the business of perception and conception. In all creative arts, the larger share of the work is done subconsciously: its emergence is in a sense automatic. This is equally true of mystics, artists, philosophers, discoverers, and rulers of men. The great ... always owes its inception to some sudden inrush of intuitions or ideas for which the superficial self cannot account; ... this is 'inspiration'; the opening of the sluices, so that those waters of truth in which all life is bathed may rise to the level of consciousness." ~Evelyn Underhill

Real genius, creative genius, is more than a simple matter of having a large brain, reading a lot of books, or getting several college degrees. The true genius has opened channels to something deeper, something spiritual, inside himself and outside, that gives him insights into reality that no amount of intellectual studies can match. This is the type of genius we find in Leonardo da Vinci, Michaelangelo, and Albert Einstein. We can, of course, add to that list the great spiritual leaders that are generally not thought of as geniuses. They would include Jesus, Moses, Buddha, St. Francis, Jacob Boehm, Kahlil Gibran and many others.

Naturally, the materialistic powers of the world, especially the universities and trade schools that make a great deal of money selling their rather limited training, oppose this concept. No matter how much they try, however, they never seem to completely suppress such teachings.

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette's blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette

The Path to Immortality

Stairway leading up to bright light

"The path to immortality is hard, and only a few find it. The rest await the great Day when the wheels of the universe shall be stopped and the immortal sparks shall escape from the sheaths of substance. Woe unto those who wait, for they must return again, unconscious and unknowing, to the seed-ground of the stars, and await a new beginning. Those who are saved by the light of the mystery which I have revealed unto you, ... shall return again to the Father who dwelleth in the White Light, and shall deliver themselves up to the Light shall be absorbed into the Light, and in the Light they shall become Powers in God. This is the way of God and is revealed only to them that have wisdom." ~Hermes

The first sentence of the quote backs up other recent posts so I won't revisit that subject here. It gets more interesting after that.

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette's blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette

“Be Quiet and Listen”

“To let oneself go, be quiet, receptive, appears to be the condition under which such contact with the Cosmic Life may be obtained. ‘I have noticed that when one paints one should think of nothing: everything then comes better,’ says the young Raphael to Leonardo da Vinci. The superficial self must here acknowledge its own insufficiency, must become the humble servant of a more profound and vital consciousness. The mystics are of the same opinion. ‘Let the will quietly and wisely understand,’ says St. Teresa, ‘that it is not by dint of labor on our part that we can converse to any good purpose with God.’ ‘The best and noblest way in which thou mayst come into this life,’ says Eckhart, ‘is by keeping silent and letting God work and speak.’” ~Evelyn Underhill

Most experts will tell you that one of the biggest difficulties in communicating with others is that we simply don't listen. We listen only in a very superficial way when someone else is speaking while our minds are occupied with deciding what we are going to say next, or something else about ourselves. We don't really want to know what the other person has to say, we want to know how it can benefit us. We always put ourselves at the center of everything.

< Read the complete blog post at Solar Wind. >

Visit and bookmark Harold Boulette's blog Solar Wind at:
<http://spiritsun.net/>

contributed by Harold Boulette