

“The Sun That Never Flips”

The Sun doesn't spin at the same rate. Its equator takes 25 days to complete one rotation while its poles take 35 days. This differential rotation was thought to settle down as stars age and maybe even reverse, with the poles going faster than the equator. A new supercomputer simulation shows that it won't be the case. Even as it slows its rotation over billions of years, the equator will continue to rotate more quickly than the poles.

“The Early Universe was Hot, Dense, and Soupy”

Shortly after the Big Bang, the Universe was hot and dense, a plasma of quarks and gluons that led to the formation of the first hydrogen atoms. It's called the primordial soup, and it turns out, that name is apt. New research shows that quarks moving through that early time behave like objects moving through a liquid. This can help researchers understand how this early time in the Universe evolved to the more modern structures we see today.

The oxygen in a galaxy does not sit still. It spreads, thins out, piles up, and leaves behind a record of where stars formed, where gas moved, and when smaller galaxies crashed in. In the nearby spiral galaxy NGC 1365, astronomers have now read that record in unusual detail, using oxygen as a kind of fossil trail.

Rulers and Princes of Truth and Justice

"Where, today, are the rulers and princes this land once knew? Where are similar officials to be found? Today, bribery creeps behind the seats of judgment, corruption lurks on the right hand, and perjury sneaks around to the left. What of the flow of fine words that accompany a magistrate to his seat of appointment? What have these noble utterances become but a more meaningless babble. Yet are they not a glorious thing capable of moving the hearts of men with their inspiring message of hope in the ultimate attainment of justice? Let them be recorded for all time.

"He who is pure of hands comes forth. He utters the words that have come from the Temple of Man. Those with panther skins bear the symbols of authority. These words are spoken. You are the ever faithful servant of Truth. the humble one who begs her for guidance. You are not the lord of justice but one who ever seeks it with humility and perseverance, praying it will bless your decisions. You are henceforth one whose words are heavy with authority, whose eyes see without prejudice and whose ears are closed to intolerance. Your thoughts are clear and clean, your heart is pure. It is free of all malice, and to you, a vindictive verdict will be an abomination. The mantle of wisdom rests on your shoulders and the robe of learning is your garment. Your tongue is the servant of Truth and the sword of justice. Your mouth is the shrine of honor and the cave of retribution. Your heart is the temple of purity and the storehouse of wise judgments from the past."

"Justice will ever be your guiding light and rule; it will lead you even to the appointed place before the mother of the king. Wherever you go, uprightness will take command. You will wield the sword of justice without fear; you will bear it before the sight of all men. You will carry it to the rich and powerful, to the poor and lowly, without discrimination. You will strike down all merchants of falsehood, all fork-tongued deceivers, all who bear false witness or break the statutes of the king. Let wickedness perish in the sands."

The Kolbrin Bible (MAN:34:11-13)

Rulers and Princes

There was a time when rulers tried their best to follow the Laws of God and the laws of nature. They passed laws that extended and explained the Laws of God rather than opposing them. But as the quote indicates, today many rulers are subject to bribes and corruption. They rule for the benefit of the wealthy, not for the benefit of all. Of course, the "today" that the quote is talking about was centuries ago, but we see it happening again, perhaps worse than ever.

Inspiring Messages

Those ancient rulers who followed the Laws of God did leave inspiring messages to be passed on to future generations in the times when such rulers were scarce. The Roman emperor Marcus Aurelius was a good example of this. His philosophy is studied even today.

From the Temple of Man

The ancient students of the spiritual temples were faithful servants of truth, and were guided with humility, grace, and love. Their eyes saw without prejudice, meaning they did not treat people differently because of their race, religion, sex, or nationality.

The Robe of Learning

The robe of learning is the garment of the righteous person because such a person never quits learning, never believes there is nothing more to learn.

Justice

The righteous do bring justice to all equally. They will treat the rich and the poor the same. And they will do their best to help God bring an end to the wickedness in the world. It may seem like the opposite of this is happening, but the wicked must be brought out of their hiding places and exposed to the Light of the Sun of Righteousness to burn the wickedness out of them.

“The Answer is Written in the Stars”

Here's a question that sounds simple but has kept cosmologists arguing for decades – how old is the universe? You'd think we'd have nailed this down by now. We've sent spacecraft to the edges of the Solar System, photographed galaxies billions of light years away, and detected ripples in the very fabric of spacetime itself. And yet, depending on which method you use to measure the universe's age, you get a different answer and those answers seem to contradict each other.

“Astronomers Produce the Largest Image Ever Taken of the Heart of the Milky Way”

Astronomers have used a collection of telescopes to peer through the gas and dust obscuring the center of the Milky Way to reveal the enigmatic Central Molecular Zone. This is a region 650 light-years in diameter filled with a complex network of filaments made of dense clouds of gas. A new image shows how cold molecular gas flows along these filaments to feed into clumps where new stars are born in the Milky Way's most extreme environment.

Between May 2023 and January 2024, a global network of gravitational-wave detectors picked up 128 new cosmic signals, more than doubling the entire catalog built across the previous decade. The universe, it turns out, is not quiet. It is constantly shaking.

People Deluded by Matter forget the Wisdom of the Spiritual Leaders of the Past

“They say among themselves, as it will ever be said when men are deluded by their mortality, The life of man is short and uncertain; the one certainty in life being the approach of death. What awaits hereafter, no man can tell, for no man is known to have returned from out of his tomb. We are all the children of accident and mischance, and in a short generation shall be as though we had never been. Our bodies shall harden and be ground to dust, and the fire of our hearts shall burn itself out and turn to ashes. Our shade will hover for its day and then be wafted away on the wind, and as the waters come and go, our name will pass from the memories of men forever. The works of man shall pass away like the shadow of a cloud upon the sand, and his life will vanish like the dew of morning that disappears in the heat of the rising sun. What are the days of man, but the shadow of a shadow, and he passes away to an end from which there is no returning. He goes out through a door which is immediately shut, and there is no way back.

“They say, Come, therefore, and let us be joyful; let us cast aside the long face of learning and the melancholy face of discipline. Let us enjoy the good things of life, which are all about us. Let us take no thought for an uncertain future; where is the profit in that? Let us eat and drink to fullness, let us grant our bodies all means of satisfaction. Let no means of pleasure and enjoyment pass us by, but whatever comes our way, let us make the best of our lot in life. Let us turn our backs on all doctrines of the spirit, for they deny us much. Let us give full rein to all our senses and feelings, and let them serve the ends of pleasure.

“Such are the things spoken by men today, and if they declare them not openly, they hide them in their hearts. ... Gold is not gathered by the wayside.

“Yet, the wisdom of our fathers did avail them, whatever is said in the streets today. They have indeed left a memorial worthy of reverence, and they are not without shrines. ... As for the Enlightened Ones, who passed among the people and strengthened them since the days when the gods walked with men, their names have become lasting even though they themselves have gone.”

-The Kolbrin Bible (Man:34:7-10)

Life is Short

It is true that life is short and uncertain, but only if you consider just our physical life. Spiritual life is neither short nor uncertain, but those who choose to live only as material beings know nothing of that eternal life.

No Man can Tell What Awaits Hereafter

Again, this statement is true only if you are a materialist who knows nothing of your own spiritual Self. Those who have awakened and developed their spiritual Self know that a greater life awaits in the spiritual realm for those who prepare for it. But what many can't understand is that the materialist who does nothing to prepare for that eternal life will be denied it.

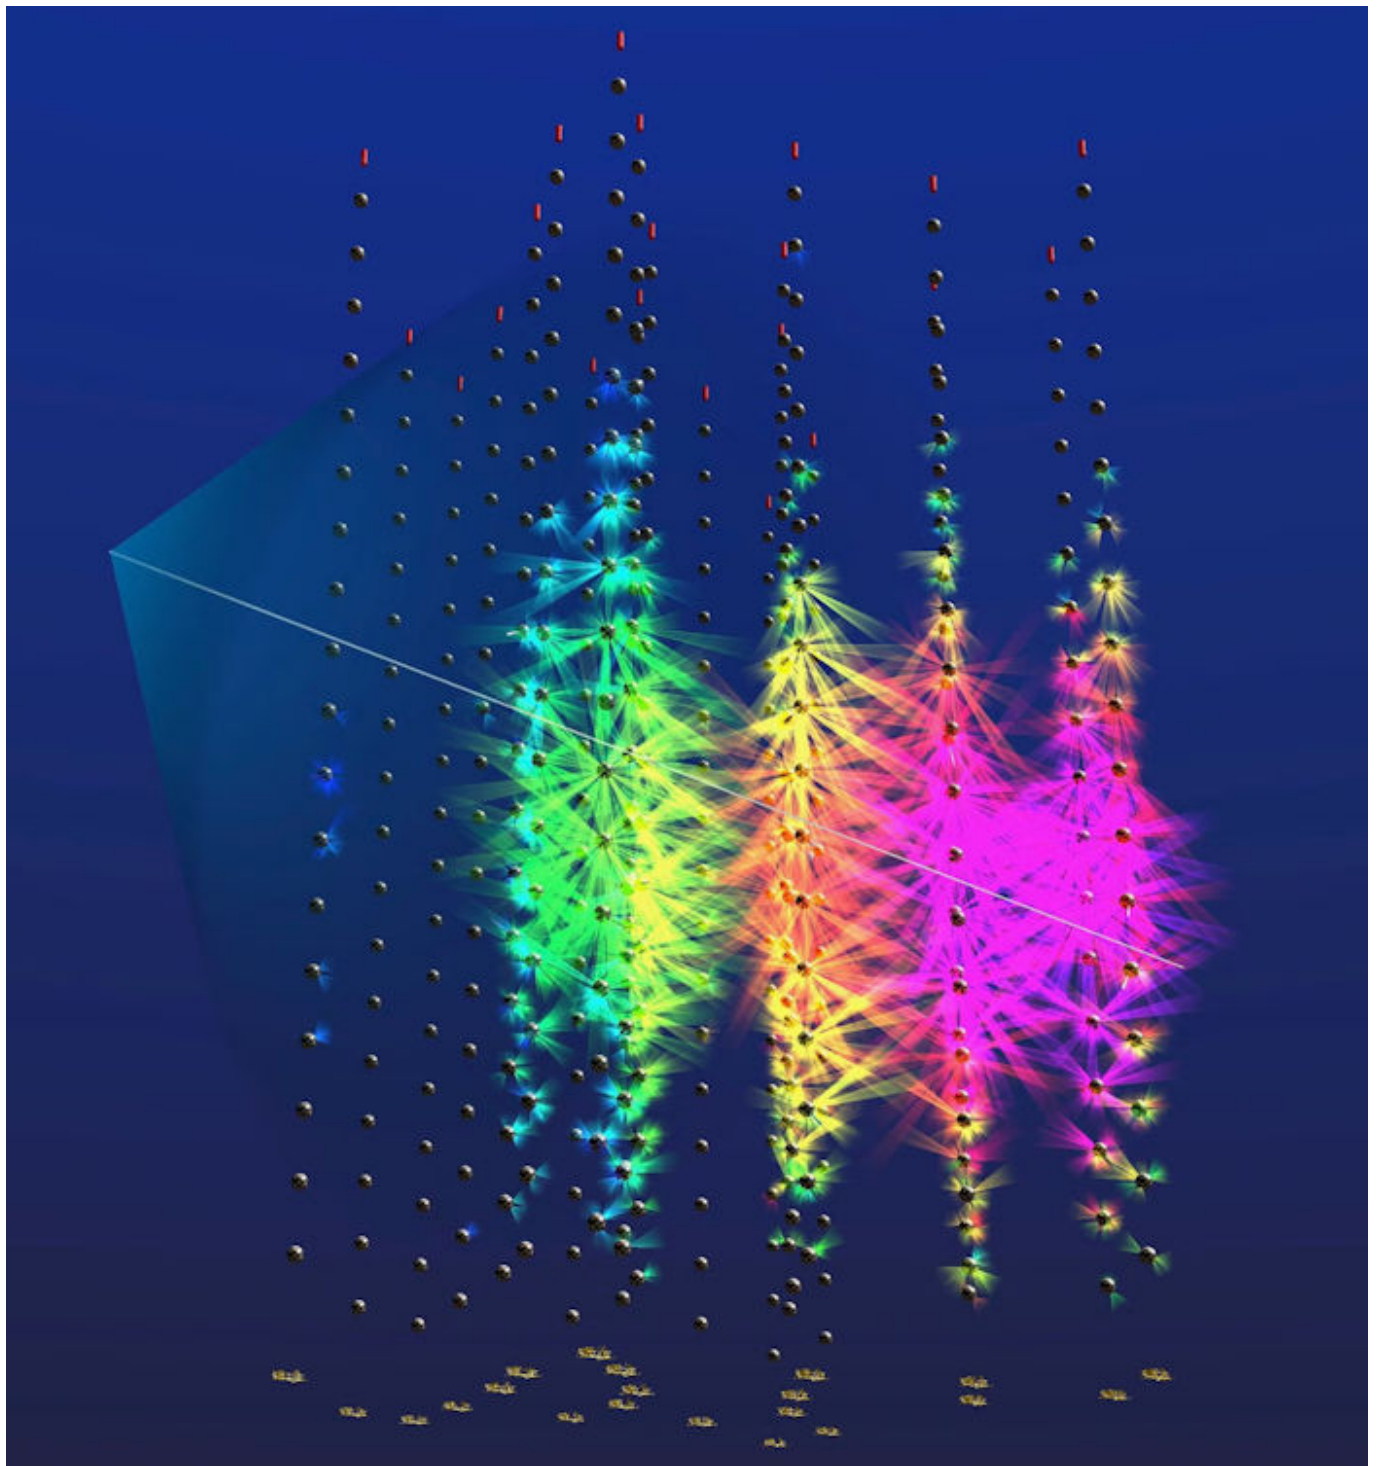

Works of Man Pass Away

That is true, but some people have learned to make things that last thousands of years. Some examples of that are the pyramids of Egypt and the roads built by the ancient Romans. Unfortunately, today, the philosophy of most companies is to build everything to be temporary. This has resulted in people who generally think the same way. They concern themselves with the temporary pleasures of matter and ignore the permanent ones of the Spirit.

Wisdom of our Fathers

Yes, the wisdom of the ancient spiritual leaders, as well as the few real ones of today (sadly, we have many today using spirituality as a way to scam people and make money), does live on in hidden schools and temples. More and more people are awakening to the truth, and the world is changing because of it.

“A surge of discoveries of gravitational waves”

Black holes are the densest objects in the universe. When they collide, they unleash ripples in spacetime known to scientists as gravitational waves. These waves travel across millions to billions of light-years of space. But they're barely perceptible when they reach us here on Earth. Scientists are trying to catalog these signatures of black hole mergers. Now they say they've detected 128 new signatures over a 9-month period. Why so many? Image via SXS.
