Pictures of the International Space Station as it passes in front of the Sun or Moon are a bit of a feather in the cap of space photographers – but Arizona-based astrophotographer Andrew McCarthy bagged a real prize.

When he headed out to the Sonoran Desert and set up his equipment to attempt to capture an ISS transit, he was surprised by a medium-sized solar flare in the background. The resulting image captured not just the space station as it whisked past the surface of the Sun, but the transient appearance of a solar eruption.

“Introducing Scorpius the Scorpion and its legendary Stinger”

With a little imagination, you can see the stars of Scorpius tracing the shape of a scorpion. The bright red star Antares marks the Scorpion's Heart. There's even a Stinger. Think constellations don't look like their names? Meet the Scorpion! Night sky veteran Deborah Byrd has details.

The Enlightened Gained Strength in Egypt

“Nabihaton rose to rule while still very young, and though it is said that he died in the grip of a demon, with blood welling up from within his mouth, the other version, that he died a tombless wanderer, seems more probable, for it is so written on the Tablets of Amon.

“In the days of his father, the Enlightened Ones had regained strength in the land of Egypt, though they remained a hidden force, and all their deeds were secret. Nevertheless, they were not unknown to the priesthoods, which were then strong, though they were regarded with much disfavour. In those days, the charges made against the Enlightened Ones were that they stirred up the lowly against the powerful. That they tried to turn the land over, to change that, which had ever been. Therefore, those who knew

The Great God dwelt in seclusion and hiding. Their names were unknown, their faces unseen.

“The mother of Nabihatton was Towi, one of the Chosen Ones. In those days there were still four ranks of the faithful: the Twice Born, the Enlightened Ones, the Chosen Ones and the Dwellers in Light. Among the Dwellers in Light, there were Seekers in Light and Laborers in Light. Even then as now. The wife of Pharaoh, though of high blood, was no more than half Egyptian; her ways were strange. While he had still not come to manhood, the mother of Pharaoh taught him the ways of light. She revealed many of its secrets, probably without proper authority, though this cannot be known. However, though the Leader of Light in Egypt was never far removed from the Pharaoh, only during days in the far distant past were the kings numbered among the enlightened. Only in the days of true greatness, days long gone down into dust, days long forgotten in the land.

-The Kolbrin Bible (MAN:34:33-35)

Nabihatton

Who this leader was is unknown. A Google search for the name turns up nothing. It is interesting that there are two conflicting stories about his death. The tale about him dying in the “grip of a demon” is probably made up by his enemies and the enemies of enlightenment. As the author of the quote says, the most probable story is that he died a wanderer.

There is no explanation of how a Pharaoh became a wanderer.

The Enlightened Ones

Here we suddenly jump back a generation to the time of Nabihatón's father. The enlightened people, those who are today called "woke" by materialists, had regained strength but remained secret. Until just a few decades ago, that is how it remained. Mystery schools operated in secret, and their teachings were never to be written down or spoken of in public. The author adds that they were well known to the priesthood of that age, which tells us the priests themselves were probably among the enlightened, unlike the vast majority of priests and preachers today.

They Stirred up the Lowly

That sounds familiar, doesn't it? Today, we see many who are opposed to the "woke" people because they think they will stir up the masses into rebellion. They don't understand that the Enlightened are all about peace and love, so while they may not like certain governments or elected officials, they never promote violence against them.

Four Ranks

The mystery schools of this period had four ranks within them. The spiritual schools of today may differ, but most have a hierarchy of ranks. In Cosolargy, because we are a church as well as a spiritual school, we use the ranks that are common in Christian churches. Some exceptions are in the highest levels, where older men and women can be chosen to be part of the Order of Matriarchs or the Order of Patriarchs. The people in those levels are known as Reverend Fathers or Reverend Mothers.

The Mother of Pharaoh Taught Him

The quote says the mother of Nabihatón taught him some of the teachings of the Mystery Schools. This is a proper thing to do, and is part of the teachings of Cosolargy. Each generation of enlightened people whose parents were also enlightened is more spiritual than the one before. That is why Bishop Savoy Senior chose his sons to succeed him rather than other individuals who had been in the community longer but were first-generation.

Enlighten Kings

Not only in Egypt, but in other ancient civilizations, the kings were often among the enlightened. In many cases where they were not enlightened, they had advisors who were. This allowed such rulers to rule justly, honestly, and with love, rather than with greed and hatred.

“Star clusters reveal possible dark matter galaxy”

When you look at the night sky, all the light you see is what astronomers call ordinary matter. It represents only 15% of the matter (mass) in the universe. A mysterious substance called dark matter makes up the other 85%. So when you look at a galaxy through a telescope, all the light you see is ordinary matter. But is it possible to have a galaxy made out of dark matter? On June 20, 2025, the University of Innsbruck in Austria said researchers have discovered a dark-matter galaxy candidate in a cluster of galaxies some 240 million light-years away.

“Behold! World’s Largest Camera Snaps Millions of Galaxies in First Pics”

The Vera C. Rubin Observatory has just dropped its very first images. Expected to revolutionize our understanding of the Universe, the new eye on the sky hasn't disappointed.

For 10 hours, the US National Science Foundation and Department of Energy facility stared deep into the cosmos, using its powerful camera to record in near-ultraviolet, optical, and near-infrared wavelengths. The result is a tantalizing and exciting set of observations that bode well for the years to come.

“Astronomers Uncover a Massive Shaft of Missing Matter”

Another clue about the whereabouts of the missing matter in the Universe has just emerged from amid the largest local cosmic structure.

X-ray observations have revealed a massive filament of hot gas, measuring some 23 million light-years in length, in the space between four sub-clusters of galaxies in the enormous, 8,000-galaxy strong Shapley Supercluster.

On June 18, 2025, astronomers shared a 1,000-color image of the Sculptor galaxy from the European Southern Observatory's Very Large Telescope (VLT). The rich colors of the galaxy come alive in this image, which took more than 100 exposures and 50 hours of observations. The details in the color help astronomers understand what is happening inside the galaxy, which lies 11 million light-years away.

“Listen to the Sun like never before | BBC”

The sun is the brightest object in the solar system, and also the loudest. It emits a low-frequency hum in the range of 140 decibels. We don't hear it because there is no air between the sun and the Earth to carry the sound.

“Giant Jets Bigger Than The

Milky Way Seen Shooting From Black Hole”

A supermassive black hole in the early Universe has been spotted blasting out powerful jets of plasma that are at least twice as long as the Milky Way is wide.

Its host galaxy is a quasar called J1601+3102, and we're seeing it as it was less than 1.2 billion years after the Big Bang. Spanning 215,000 light-years from end to end, this is the largest structure of its kind seen in those early stages of the Universe's formation, and astronomers think it can answer some questions about how they grow.

Temples of the Dark Gods

“In the temples dedicated to many different gods, the forms of worship were subtly changed to serve another end. The servants of the Dark Ones were able to display wonders before the multitude, but these wonders were works of deceit. They revealed mysteries, but the mysteries were not the most sacred ones; these were never known by any likely to betray them. The thoughts of the people were poisoned. All manner of rites aimed at satisfying carnal cravings were introduced. Simple, satisfying answers were given to content the hearts of the people, and all manner of rewards were promised. For payment made, men were promised forgiveness of even the most grievous wickednesses. It is well that the ears of the dumb gods were unhearing, or they would have been deafened by the clamor of pleas for petty things. The servants of the Dark Ones left not even the dead to rest in peace, but sought to satisfy the living with words from beyond the tomb. Even the blood of men was offered in dark places, while in others of greater evil, men, yes, and even children, were tormented to give pleasure. Such is the nature of men when the scales weigh down against righteousness."

-the Kolbrin Bible (MAN:34:25)

Temples of Many Gods

Ancient Egypt had many temples devoted to various gods. While not the True God, most of these god were at least on the right side and worshiping them may have benefited the people who were not ready for a real spiritual awakening.

Worship Changed

In the time when Darkness came to Egypt, the practices in these temples were gradually changed by the Dark Forces and Beings so that they served the Dark ones, especially the Demiurge who created the realm of matter. Some of these Dark Ones claimed to know the ancient Mysteries, but the mysteries they taught were false ones aimed at making people more materialistic.

Carnal Cravings

The Dark Ones encourage carnal cravings. Prejudices and fears of many sorts were also introduced, and people were encouraged to act on their fears and prejudices, often violently. The people were promised that such behavior would be forgiven, much as some churches and religions today forgive those who participate in wars, book banning, and other forms of controlling others.

Clamor of Pleas

This is something that is still practiced by many today. They pray for a new house, a new car, a new job, or other material things without realizing that by doing so, they are praying to and empowering the Demiurge and his demonic minions. The proper way to pray to the True God is to say "Thy will be done, in me and through me." We are not smarter than God, so we need to let Him make the decisions. We need to learn what God's Great Plan is for saving the earth from Darkness, and do what we can to help make it happen. God could do it all by Himself, but he wants us to participate as he created us to be co-creators along with Him. If you are hired by a construction company to help build a building, you have to follow the architect's plan, not your own. It is the same with God's Plan for bringing a new Golden Age of Spirit to our world.

Blood Was Offered

One of the most evil things that the Dark Ones introduced was blood sacrifice. As the quote says, the blood of men (and women) was offered in evil ceremonies. Even torture of adults and children was used to satisfy the evil cravings of the Dark Ones. We must all learn that the True God has never asked for blood sacrifice, for torture, or for anyone to be killed on His behalf. Only the Demiurge asks for such things.
