

Cosolargy Newsletter 2019, Issue 2: October

COSOLARGY INTERNATIONAL
THE SACRED TEACHINGS OF LIGHT

COSOLARGY NEWSLETTER October 2019

Extract from
Project X - Chapter 9

Looking into the dawn, I felt something like that - a sense of unity with the sun. I felt connected to it. My heart beat in harmony with the sun and my whole being pulsed with it in a unified rhythm. It seemed that my mind was expanding to embrace the external universe, the stars of the heavens, then contracting to embrace the inner world, the atoms comprising all living things. I was part of all life, vibrating with the sun in a cosmic dance in which I was a participant, not an observer. I began to experience other dimensions of being, as if I were actually part of celestial realms, transported to the sun and beyond through a gate to the realm of higher intelligence. I entered a world beyond space and time, a world not experienced by the normal mental faculties, and I participated in thoughts never experienced by my mind. Ninety-three million miles did not separate my being from the sun - in that very instant I was one with it. For the first time the sun as the eye of God looking into the depths of my soul.

My eyes were doing more than just seeing or experiencing the electromagnetic radiation of the visible spectrum, which causes light and color perception in material space and time. With my new sense of vision I was seeing points of solar illumination the many areas of the sky. I saw multitudes of suns, not just one, and energy seemed to be streaming into my being from all of them. The nerve cells in my eyes and brain tingled I felt aglow, radiant. I was also seeing the light of the invisible sun, and it to me. More astounding, the sun was responding to my projected thoughts as a living organism would. As I transmitted telepathically to the sun, it was transmitting telepathically to me.

Project X: The Search for the Secrets of Immortality
by Gene Savoy, Sr.

From the Cosolargy Blog

A Big Heart and an Open Mind Aids Spiritual Growth

"Let me urge you, my child, to enlarge your heart; or rather, suffer it to become enlarged by grace. This contraction shuts you up in yourself, and hinders an agreeable openness which we should ever maintain, even towards those who have no particular affinity with ourselves. An open, frank exterior wins confidence. Let it not appear that you have so much relish for yourself as not to think of others. What seems to be a virtue is sometimes regarded by God as a fault; and which we shall so perceive when we have clearer light.

...

"I entreat you, pass beyond the narrow bounds of self; suffer yourself to be led out of self into the will and way of God. Thus you will be much more happy and useful." ~Madam

Subscribers to the Cosolargy.org web site receive a monthly newsletter.

Click here to read or download this issue.